

25 Years Later--Normandy Revisited

SAINTE-MERE-EGLISE, France (AP) — "Under the command of Gen. Eisenhower, Allied naval forces, supported by strong air forces, began landing Allied armies this morning on the northern coast of France."

This message from Col. Ernest Dupuy in London came at 9:33 a.m. London time 25 years ago today. D-Day had begun and Hitler's four-year grip on Europe would be smashed in 11 months.

The liberators—Americans, Britons, Canadians and soldiers of the Free French army—were back on the beaches and in the villages today where people can be grateful to them without embarrassment and the old soldiers proud without complexes.

They came late Thursday night to this village which says it was the first in Europe to regain its freedom in 1944.

Paratroopers of the U.S. 82nd Airborne Division jumped into Sainte-Mere-Eglise shortly after midnight. One soldier caught his chute on the church steeple and hung from it for hours, but by 4 a.m. the 100-man German garrison had pulled out and the village was in American hands.

Some of the old paratroopers, including the 82nd's commander at the time, Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin, were back in town to watch two planes drop dummies on the square in a simulated attack.

Gavin, who landed in a swamp outside the town, said his memories of D-Day are strangely hazy. "I was occupied with what I would do on the ground. There were people down there with guns that did not like us and my mind just moved from one thing to another without saving much of it."

At 6:30 a.m. men were moving into the beaches, the Americans at Omaha and Utah, and the British and Canadians to the east at Juno, Sword and Gold.

On Omaha beach, casualties were heavy and the situation was uncertain until after noon.

Col. William Sharp of Pennington, N.J., then a 19-year-old lieutenant, drove an armored vehicle onto the beach at 11:45 a.m.

"We went straight ahead," he said. "My orders were to proceed to a certain point and take the waterproofing off my vehicle. To the right and left people would be killed, but we were occupied with our waterproofing. We were safe on the beach, but three days later my unit was nearly destroyed in a Panzer attack."

American casualties in the first 24 hours were put at 6,603 by the 1st Army, including more than 3,000 dead and missing. British and Canadian forces had about 3,500 to 4,000 casualties.

These men were being honored today at ceremonies in the American and British sectors. The memorials were laid by Gen. of the Army Omar Bradley; Gen. Sir Richard Gale, commander of the British airborne invasion force, and Gen. Sir Charles Ellworthy, commander-in-chief of the Royal Air Force.

Speaking about the D-Day dead, Gavin said:

"A tribute in human lives had to be paid. When the end of the war was near, when finally we entered our first concentration camp at Mecklenburg, near Ludwigslust, we understood that our sacrifices had not been in vain."

"The inhumanity of certain men towards others had to be stopped and the freedom of humanity restored," Gavin added.

Nixon's Midway Talks

No Last Minute Shift of Direction

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (UPI)—President Nixon has decided to go ahead with his Midway conference on the Vietnam War with little consideration for the critical storms beginning to break in Washington and other parts of the world.

The Chief Executive goes about a relatively routine business schedule today with little outward evidence of concern over what he might discuss in the Midway Islands Sunday with President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam.

The White House resident expert on Vietnam, Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, arrived in Southern California Thursday night, but the President did not confer with him. Instead, Nixon spent the evening with his family at their new home in San Clemente, 25 miles south of here.

Through news reports and private cables, the President was well aware of unsolicited advice and comment coming from Capitol Hill and other world capitals. His Sunday agenda for Midway, however, was well worked out before he left Washington for the West earlier this week. There was no solid evidence his approach to Thieu had undergone any last minute shift of direction.

The feeling here on the colorful coast of Southern California, where surfboards and male hippies wearing nose rings go almost unnoticed, was that Nixon had stated his case and would not depart from it substantially Sunday on Eastern Island in the Midway group.

Nixon wanted to get as many American troops out of South east Asia as quickly as possible, but on his terms and not the terms of the Viet Cong. In addition to inheriting a war, Nixon did not want the added responsibility or blame for a military vacuum into which forces from North Vietnam could pour.

The President's plans today include a helicopter flight from Communist guns had a busy night and morning against Allied positions. Meanwhile, Sen. J. William Fulbright, commenting on reports of some U.S. troop withdrawals, said there would be little value in a limited pull out of units . . . Stories on Page 26.

San Clemente to his new office space at the Newport Inn here; a meeting with HEW Secretary Robert Finch; and a session with a group of young Americans selected as a pilot study group by the Selective Service System.

The 10, nine young men and one girl, serve on pilot advisory committees to Selective Service systems in Oklahoma, Iowa, Michigan, Mississippi and New York City. Five of the 10 are college students, two are in high school, two are in apprentice training and one works for the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Nixon invited them to his villa office on the grounds of the Newport Inn at Newport Beach, some 25 miles north of his new oceanfront home here. He is commuting by helicopter between the two sites.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said the President wanted to hear the views of the young people on the workings of the advisory panels and their view of the way Selective Service operates.

He planned to return to San Clemente and leave Saturday for Honolulu, which will serve as a gathering point for his senior advisers before they fly off together to Midway for the meeting with Thieu.

Following a Newporter Inn conference Thursday, Nixon announced he was nominating Donald E. Johnson, 45, of West Branch, Iowa, a former national commander of the American Legion, to be veterans administrator. He also named Johnson to head a presidential committee that will review federal benefits offered returning Vietnam war veterans.

Super-Star Joe Namath Quitting, Bucks Commissioner Over Cafe

NEW YORK (UPI)—Joe Namath, star quarterback of the world champion New York Jets, announced his retirement from pro football today rather than bow to an ultimatum from pro football Commissioner Pete Rozelle that he relinquish his one-third interest in a night club. Namath, 26, five-year American Football League veteran who led the Jets to a stunning upset over the Baltimore Colts last January, has been bothered by chronically ailing knees throughout his pro career but made little mention of them in his announcement.

The former University of Alabama star announced his retirement in a news conference at the night club which figured in Rozelle's order.

Namath, crying while making his stunning announcement, was surrounded by 200 reporters, radio and television newsmen, who had been summoned to the night club.

Dressed in a blue windbreaker and blue shirt open at the neck, the Jets' star said he was given a choice by Rozelle to sell his business or be suspended.

Namath said Rozelle told him his night club had been under surveillance by the FBI and was considered a hangout for "certain undesirables."

"I can't accept this," the teary-eyed quarterback said. "I'm innocent, but because I'm a football player, I am being forced to do something against my wishes. I am not or ever was associated with gamblers but that doesn't seem to make any difference.

"I talked this over with my friends and gave this more thought than anything else in my life. And I feel retiring is the only right thing to do."

In answer to a reporter's question, Namath said he hoped the issue could be resolved.

"Football is the thing I love to do most," Namath said, "and retiring is the last thing I want to do."

If one player can be credited with speeding the merger of the National and American Football Leagues, that player would be Namath. Signed by former Jet owner David "Sonny" Werblin for the then-fantastic sum of $400,000, Namath proved the attraction needed by the fledgling league.

The native of Beaver Falls, Pa., also led the Jets out of the AFL cellar and from days of 5,000 fans in the stands to sellouts at Shea Stadium, culminating in last season's championship.

Whatever Namath did in pro

City's Changing Scene—Rondout PO Closing Soon

KINGSTON The Post Office station in Rondout will close on June 30, another victim of urban renewal.

Kingston Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk made the announcement today, stating that the dwindling number of customers no longer justified the operation of the post office on lower Broadway. In addition, the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency has notified the post office that the agency-owned building which the post office rents, is on the demolition list.

After being notified to vacate the building, Postmaster Newkirk solicited bids for the contract operation of the Rondout station by a party other than the post office. The deadline was May 20. No one made an offer. Newkirk extended the deadline a week. Still no offers.

Newkirk said that all persons that have postal boxes at Rondout Station will be required to submit residential addresses. If they choose, they may apply for boxes at the Uptown Station on Main Street or at the Main Station on Cornell Street.

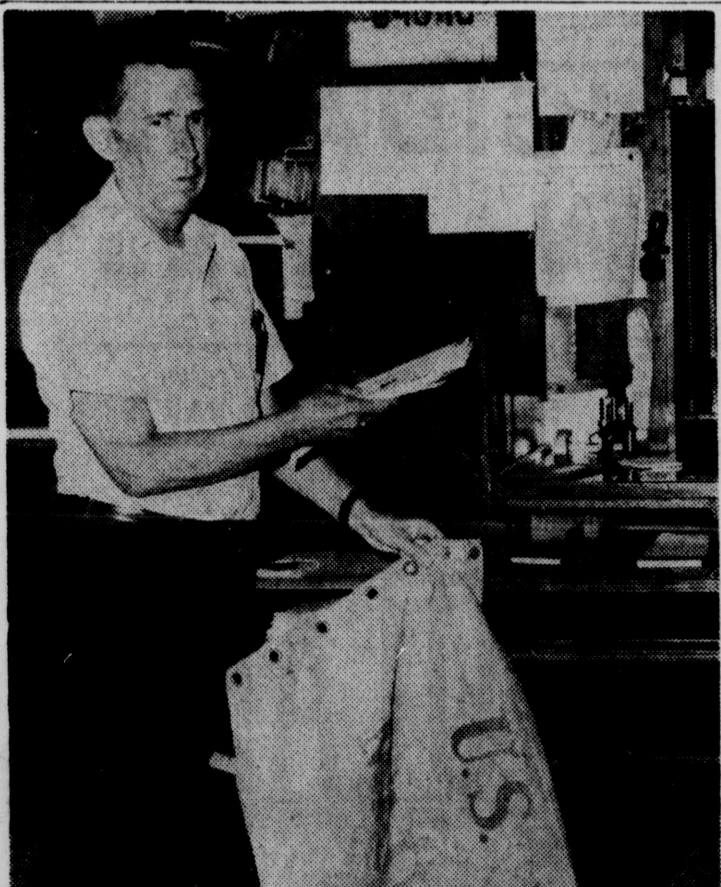

Newkirk also said that all services offered to postal patrons at Rondout Station will be available at either the Main Post Office or the Uptown Station, whichever is convenient to the patron.

House to house delivery will be maintained in the Rondout area of the city, Newkirk said. As for the future, Newkirk said, "If there is a need for a post office in Rondout in the future, it will be reopened."

James P. Long, the station superintendent since December of 1965, will be transferred to the Main Post Office. He is a veteran of 30 years postal service.

Tyrrell Would Evaluate Program for Recreation

KINGSTON

James J. Tyrrell, Republican candidate for the office of Mayor of Kingston, said today, his administration would evaluate all recreation programs in the city of Kingston with the purpose of establishing a multi-purpose recreation program for the future. Tyrrell said he would ask the city Common Council to work with the city Recreation Commission in evaluating the existing program before attempting to take drastic steps of reform. However, there is a need to establish programs that appeal to several groups instead of particular groups, he added.

The Republican said, his programs would be designed to provide activities for the entire family on particular sites rather than several activities for particular age groups on scattered sites.

Tyrrell said he believes it is time to evaluate our programs and the location of our facilities. Perhaps we will determine, through evaluation, that the parks of twenty years ago are not going to be sufficient for the next decade or two decades, he said.

The Republican candidate continued, "There is a definite need for additional lighting in city parks, if we are to combat the various instances of crime in the streets. Dark, gloomy, unlighted parks only provide delinquents and habitual vandals with places to hide after the unlawful act has been committed."

Tyrrell said he would ask the Common Council to establish a parks department, as part of the Board of Public Works. The main purpose of this department will be the proper maintenance of our parks during the year.

Tyrrell called for the construction of a municipal swimming pool on a site that can be developed into a family recreation area. Such an area would include a swimming pool capable of serving all age groups, activities for parents and senior citizens.

The summer program will include several additional educational programs for our youth. Tyrrell said recreation in the city should not be provided entirely without cost to the participant. Tyrrell called for the payment of a nominal fee, yearly, which would defray maintenance costs and provide additional monies for summer employment for junior and senior high school and college students.

The Republican candidate said he would ask the Common Council to improve the city zoo facilities as part of an overall face-lifting for the recreation program.

Tyrrell concluded, "Our aim would be to improve present programs where there is a need, create additional summer employment and create an atmosphere of family participation through recreation."

City to Host WW I Vets Meeting

KINGSTON

World War I veterans from six counties will assemble in Kingston June 8 at 2 p.m. Edward Shaver, commander of Pangburn-McBroom Barracks No. 864, said that a large number of the older veterans are expected at the VFW Hall Delaware Avenue.

The Department 8 meeting, including Ulster, Greene, Columbia, Dutchess, Orange and Sullivan Counties will be conducted by District Commander Paul F. Darcy, State Commander Percy E. Patonik will be a guest.

In making the announcement Shaver said "We recognize that the World War I Armistice was signed over 50 years ago. We are happy that the veterans of the other wars, including Korea and Vietnam today, are carrying on the veteran tradition of our country first in peace. When necessary we all will defend our peace and freedom against enemies who attempt to take it away from our people."

English Teachers Present Petition

By WALTER S. CLARK

KINGSTON
A delegation of 46 English teachers in the Kingston City School System Thursday night, strongly urged the Board of Education to withdraw a proposal to increase the class load by 25 per cent, contending that composition work would become a meaningless gesture and writing skills would become extinct.

The reading of a petition by Robert Tucker, spokesman for the teachers, was preceded by a sharp clash of words between Arthur Withall, board president, and the teachers' representative. Withall objected to commenting on any matter that might be in negotiations and noted that a new contract for teachers has not been ratified. After the board upheld Withall's ruling, the teachers left the meeting room, but returned later and Tucker demanded to be heard as a citizen and taxpayer, noting that other persons had been heard without disclosing the nature of their comment before speaking.

At one point, the board president accused Tucker of "trying to double talk me," and the teachers' spokesman replied, "you're a past master for double talking." The petition read by Tucker pointed out that the suggestion made by the school district's negotiating team, "is reactionary enough in itself, but incorporating it in a salary proposal is a clear indication that the board is willing to barter with quality education." The teachers disputed the board's contention relating to the added class assignment and salary proposal and stated unequivocally that the price of the increase "is the downgrading of English instruction generally and, specifically, the end of instruction in composition."

"When English concedes," the petition noted, "the last bulwark defending communication by the written word will disappear." After the reading of the petition, the teachers left. The board had no comment.

Another protest to board action came from Dr. Henry P.

Kwasnowski, president of the Ulster-Greene Dental Society, to the dismissal of the dental hygienist from the Kingston Consolidated School System. He said the society was "dismayed" by the action and contended that dental health and education is an extremely important facet of the school system's responsibility to its students.

Dr. Kwasnowski spoke of the value of the work a dental hygienist performs and said the prevention of pain and the hours of school time lost can not be given a dollar value. On behalf of the society he urged that the dental hygienist be retained.

Withall told Dr. Kwasnowski that the board recognizes the importance of the dental hygiene program, but the district is facing financial problems and must consider a priority program and eliminate some programs. "The board must tighten its belt," Withall commented.

It was indicated the dental hygiene matter might be considered further by the board during discussions on the 1969-70 tentative budget which will be aired at a public hearing on Wednesday, June 18.

In other business, the board president complimented Assemblyman H. Clark Bell for a bill he had passed in Albany which will save the district $13,000 in state aid to cover the closing of the Emma Wygant School a few days during the recent flu epidemic.

Wawarsing Board Discusses Storage Facility for Vehicles

By BRUCE KAUFMAN

ELLENVILLE
The present and future needs of the town of Wawarsing were the primary considerations in discussion of a proposed vehicle storage facility at the Town Board meeting, here, Thursday night.

While all of the board members favored the construction of the town barn there was sharp disagreement as to where the facility was to be situated.

Councilman Deloise Craft, suggested that for "economic purposes" the facility should be constructed in the village.

Councilman Jerome Elkin, who concurred with Craft's judgment said that the village site would be the most desirable location because of access to water, electricity, roads, and police protection.

However, the other two councilmen on the board criticized the Craft-Elkin proposal.

Councilmen Frank Greco and Clarence Wright argued that this site would be too small and the proposed facility would be inadequate in light of the town's future needs.

Greco said that in the long run, a larger facility constructed outside of the village would be the wisest and most economic move.

When the question of choosing a site came to a vote, Wawarsing Supervisor, Frank Harkin cast the deciding vote concurring with Craft and Elkin that the village location would be the best.

"The need is now," Harkin said, "and from the standpoint of dollar value and urgency the construction of the town barn in the village would best serve our needs."

Harkin also said that his opinion on the matter was reinforced by the Town Superintendent of Highways, Carl Fleckenstein.

The actual construction of the town barn, however, is still a long way off. The board must now hold public hearings, advertise for bids, and also raise the money to finance the project.

In other business at the Thursday night meeting, the board discussed two issues concerning the town's recreation program. Although no formal action was taken, the board endorsed and indicated that they will pledge financial support to the Ellenville summer recreation program, which will be under the direction of a team of five brothers from Marist College, Esopus.

The program will consist of a variety of recreational activities for the children in the township and will be jointly sponsored by the Town of Wawarsing, Village of Ellenville, Community Action, and other contributors.

There was also some discussion at the Thursday night meeting regarding the town-sponsored Teen Canteen, which has recently been the focus of some criticism.

Supervisor Harkin said that he has received complaints regarding loud music emanating from the canteen, located in the town hall, and has decided to instruct the young people not to have live music at their gatherings on future occasions.

The Teen Canteen which is also known as the Thirsty Ear Coffee House, was initiated last year by the Marist Brothers.

Saugerties Dump—A Move to Close It

Close to 10 persons jammed the American Legion Hall here Thursday night for the monthly meeting of the town board where two petitions with a total of 845 names were presented—one for the proposed trailer ordinance and one against the location of the new town dump.

Speaking for a group of "citizen-taxpayers of Saugerties, Henry Dussol of Mt. Marion said his petition with 790 names was to encourage the board to continue work on the proposed trailer ordinance. He said the board may have felt that the public was not behind the proposed new law on house trailers following some meetings with little attendance, but he said, "the people do approve."

Dussol said the names, gathered in five days "by a small group" of workers, represented "a composite sample of the town" and not just one section.

Would Close new site

The second petition with 55 names and backed by most of the persons in attendance here at the meeting, called for the "immediate closing" of a newly opened town dump in the western part of the township off Route 212.

A lawyer for the petitioners against the dump said as many as 20 persons are expected to join and support the objection by the end of next week. Attorney Morris Rosenbaum said the group is willing to assist the town in selecting an alternate site or in renewed attempts to negotiate with Town of Woodstock who closed Saugerties out of its dump on June 1.

The lawyer told the board that the present site, as far as he knew was selected as an emergency site by the board and that he also had heard that the board has no plans to make it a permanent location at the present.

The petition and its supporters at the meeting said the dump is a "danger to health" as well as a devaluation factor in property tax assessments, and also questioned the board's actions in making the move "under the table" without a hearing.

Donald Buckley, a resident of the area and a spokesman for the group read the petition that said "planned development of 150 acres" in the area of the dump would be suspended by residents because of the new operation.

He said he has about 75 acres himself and said the landfill operation was endangering his and other property owners' lands. Calling the site a "high rise garbage dump," Buckley said the board should close it "immediately."

The petition offered assistance in finding alternatives for the site, and noted three sites that the group had examined. It also offered to assist the board in renewing talks with Woodstock in an attempt to allow the Town of Saugerties back into the former Albert Cashdollar dump there.

Defend Selection
Board members defended their selection saying it was "an emergency" in which they had

2 Petitions at Town Meeting

only three days to act. When asked how long the dump would be used on an "emergency" basis, Supervisor A. Michael Schovel said only "we do not know."

Minutes of an executive session held on May 29 was read at the meeting and disclosed that the town had reached an agreement with the Town of Woodstock to remain at the Cashdollar dump if some back payments were made. The Saugerties Board backed away from the plan after Woodstock asked for $800 to cover legal expenses. Schovel said the $800 was "excessive" and that the Woodstock Board was not acting in an agreeable form.

The board in the end agreed to place a $100 option with Charles Keefe to purchase the site off Route 212. The planned purchase price for the 40-acre tract was said to be $22,000. The option, which runs for three months, allows the town to use the dump on a lease basis with a thought in mind to purchase it should the operation show successful.

Councilman George A. Turner told those present that the Health Department in Kingston called the Route 212 site "the best location in Ulster County."

Turner said he preferred to call the site a landfill. Turner corrected those present when he said "it's not a 'dump,' it's a landfill." His comment was met with a wave of boos from the group who continued to call the site a "dump." The councilman explained the operation of the site and said special operations to eliminate rats are being used.

The board said it would be interested in possible alternatives, if the alternatives would be close to or less than the costs of the Route 212 dump. Schovel said he could not estimate how long the emergency basis would last and also said there are no alternative sites or plans at the present.

Approve Ulster Bond For Sewer Project

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

TOWN OF ULSTER
A bond issue in the amount of $4,528,000 was approved Thursday night and the attorney for the town was authorized to negotiate for the sale of the bonds in another vital step in the project to provide sewers for most of the Town of Ulster.

The action was taken at the Town Board meeting in which authorization was given to Attorney Seymour Werbalowsky to negotiate with a bonding attorney for the funds. The town will use bond anticipation notes to secure funds until the bonds are sold.

It was announced last week that State Comptroller Arthur Levitt had approved the project.

Following a discussion on the existing trailer ordinance, the Town Board announced that the ordinance will be strictly enforced and permits must be secured on all new individual trailer and trailer court installations.

Supervisor Thaddeus Musialkiewicz said a study of the ordinance is anticipated and the town expects to make changes in the trailer law at a future date. At that time a public hearing will be scheduled.

Salary Examination

In regard to discussions at a previous meeting, a Salary Study Committee was named to examine salaries of town employees. The committee includes Mrs. Michael Maxson, chairman; Earl S. Moore, William C. Mullaney, Roy Reid, Francis Mullane, Walter Houle and Robert Hayes. The salary study proposal was suggested by Town Justice Sherwood Davis.

The supervisor advised the board that he had received word from the State Division of Youth that seven boys will be employed in the town Home-town Beautification Project. The project will start in July and will continue for seven weeks.

The board authorized the advertising for bids for installation of 1,650 feet of water mains on Lake Road.

Supervisor Musialkiewicz said he is planning a meeting with officials of IBM, Montgomery Wards and other businesses adjacent to Boice's Lane in regard to the Penn Central Railroad crossing. The town will request that the Public Service Commission declare it a public crossing with the railroad bearing the cost of maintaining the gates. IBM's contract for maintenance of the gates expires July 1.

The Town Board scheduled its next meeting for July 10 due to the conflict of the Independence Day holiday on July 4.

Building Inspector Joseph Olberding reported that building permits totaling $912,162 were filed for May.

Supervisor Musialkiewicz said members of the board will check local junkyards under the permit system to see if they are complying with the junkyard ordinance.

The supervisor showed the blueprints and explained plans for a large $2.5 million shopping mall proposed for the 9W Drive-In property on Albany Avenue Extension.

Hartford Ghetto Looting Continues; Police Patrol

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI)—Young blacks roamed a business area late Thursday, looting a number of stores and apparently stealing pistols and other weapons from a sporting goods establishment.

Two persons were shot by police who were firing at looters. Ninety-one others were arrested in the fourth consecutive night of disturbances in Connecticut's capital city.

Early today a police spokesman said "things are pretty quiet," but that police were still patrolling the ghetto.

Mayor Anee Ucello said the turmoil was part of a "conspiracy to foment trouble in the area." She would not elaborate.

The mayor appealed over local radio to parents in the North End to keep their children at home, off the streets. She asked for the assistance of parents "of young people of North Hartford who may have been or may be incited to participate in these lawless activities."

Hartford's civil disturbances began Monday night in the North End section of town. On Wednesday 36 persons were arrested and numerous stores looted after street brawls which erupted at the close of a teenage block dance.

Thursday's troubles began about 9 p. m. concentrated mainly along teeming Albany Avenue where Negroes threw stones at passing vehicles.

Two Injured In Auto Mishap

CATSKILL—Two persons were injured in a two-car collision at 6:10 p. m. Thursday on Route 9W in the Town of Athens. Leeds State Police said the cars were driven by Margaret Martin, 36, of this village and Harry Drylyk, 22, of Cohoes.

Trooper C. L. Gross reported the Martin car was attempting a left turn and Drylyk was passing when the vehicles collided. Mrs. Martin and a passenger, Eva Granich, 13, of this community, sustained injuries and were to see their own physician. Drylyk was cited for improper passing.

Probe Cause Of House Fire In Port Ewen

PORT EWEN—Thirty firemen under command of Chief Wesley Clark battled flames that extensively damaged the Blanche McBroom home at 354 Broadway, Thursday night.

The fire was discovered by a neighbor and Harold Losee, a fire policeman, who went to the firehouse and sounded the alarm at 10:22 p. m. Chief Clark said the fire evidently started in the furnace room in the basement and extended up through two cold air ducts, spreading through the walls and up to the second floor and attic.

The flames were brought under control with four 1½-inch hoselines. Damage was confined to the wall area, one room on the main floor and two on the second and the attic. There was no one at home at the time the fire erupted.

Chief Clark was assisted at the scene by three assistants. Fire police directed traffic during the fire, and the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp. was summoned to cut live wires. The cause of the blaze was not determined.

Four companies from the Olive Fire Department late Thursday night battled flames that destroyed an abandoned old schoolhouse at Samsonville. Firemen were called back later after the blaze rekindled.

Chief Albert Fox said the alarm was sounded at 1:40 p. m. and on arrival of firemen they found the one-room frame structure engulfed in flames. More than 6,000 gallons of water was shuttled by tank trucks from a creek about a half mile away.

Forty volunteers were at the scene more than an hour. Chief Fox said the origin of the blaze may have been incendiary.

Man Sought For Theft of 2 Pocketbooks

KINGSTON—Search continued today in the back yard of their home when a man entered the front door book contained $90, keys, and hurriedly left with their pocketbooks that had been taken from a table.

The women gave a vague description of the man who is believed to have made off in a car.

Immediately after police were notified search was conducted but no trace of the man was reported.

Mrs. Dunn said her pocketbook contained $90, keys, and several credit cards and eyeglasses in her pocketbook.

Lt. Howard asked residents of the city and surrounding communities to immediately notify police if any stranger is seen in their neighborhood.

Colorado State Rejects SDS Convention Bid

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (UPI)—Colorado State University officials have rejected a bid by the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) to hold its national convention here.

Dr. A. R. Chamberlain, president-elect of the school, cited the group's record of "disruption and violence" in turning down the request.

"The record of disruption and violence associated with national SDS meetings speak even more eloquently than the pronouncements and advocacy of national SDS leaders for the destruction of American higher education," Chamberlain said Thursday.

Tom Wayman, faculty adviser for SDS at CSU said he was disappointed at the ruling.

"If universities are supposed to be such citadels of reason, surely they could not object to a group of young Americans spending a week or so discussing the future not only of higher education in America, but also the future of America itself," Wayman said.

MERCY LINE—Crewmen of the destroyer USS Frank E. Evans, covered with oil and wearing life jackets, take on a line from the Australian aircraft carrier Melbourne prior to making their ship fast to the carrier. The destroyer was sliced in two during a collision with the carrier Tuesday and 73 crewmen are missing and presumed dead. (UPI CABLEPHOTO)

Sea Collision— An Official View

By United Press International

The skipper of the Australian aircraft carrier Melbourne said today both his ship and the U.S. destroyer Frank E. Evans were fully darkened and had been on tricky zigzag maneuvers when they collided.

Reliable sources who refused to be identified further told UPI the Evans was at fault in the collision, having left unanswered two signals from the Melbourne to change its collision course.

The Melbourne's bow sliced the Evans in two in bright moonlight early Tuesday, killing 74 American sailors taking part in maneuvers 350 miles south of Saigon in the South China Sea.

Capt. John P. Stevenson of the Melbourne told newsmen in Singapore following his ship's arrival there this morning that he was on the bridge at impact—in what he called "tactical control" of his ship.

First Official Account

His was the first official account of the collision from high-ranking officers involved. A joint U.S.-Australian Board of Inquiry beginning Monday in Subic Bay in the Philippines will try to determine how the sea tragedy occurred.

The Evans was one of five destroyers fanned out ahead of the Melbourne, trying to detect submarines in an antisubmarine warfare drill. Stevenson said the destroyers ranged from 3,000 to 10,000 yards ahead.

In accordance with the program, aircraft were to be operated from the Melbourne... I ordered the Frank E. Evans to move from her screening station to a position 1,000 yards astern of Melbourne to prepare for rescue operations," Stevenson said.

"It was in the course of this maneuver that the collision occurred."

The Melbourne sported a massive gash in its bow as it pulled into Singapore, its flag flying at half mast in mourning for the American sailors, its band playing "Waltzing Matilda."

The U.S. carrier Kearsarge brought most of the 199 survivors of the Evans into Subic Bay this morning. They got a quick change of clothes and began calling home on 10 special long-distance lines.

Many Face Questioning

Many of them will face questioning before the board of three American naval officers and three Australian officers investigating the collision during maneuvers of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

The reliable sources said the Evans apparently failed to complete its turn following Stevenson's order to take a new position. It reportedly crossed the Melbourne's bow from right to left, with no time for the carrier to avoid collision.

The 22,000-ton Melbourne slammed into the 2,000-ton Evans with an impact that knocked one of the Evans sailors onto the flight deck of the Melbourne, Stevenson said. The man survived.

Stevenson said his men clambered over the sides of the Melbourne in cargo nets to pull Evans crewmen from the water. Lifebuoys and lifejackets were thrown from the flight deck.

So shocking was the impact that a piece of the destroyer's hull, six feet by 20 feet, was imbedded in the Melbourne's bow. Timbers and sheet metal plugged the holes and reinforced the carrier's hull.

STUNNED—Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sage are stunned with grief after learning that three of their sons were among the 73 crewmen of the U.S.S. Evans who are missing and presumed dead. They have one other child, Douglas, 6. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

PSC to the Penn Central— Improve Service, or Else

NEW YORK (AP) — The state's Public Service Commission has ordered the Penn Central Railroad to substantially improve service on its downstate commuter lines or face court action.

Thursday's sharply critical order followed a series of public hearings on the quality of Penn Central commuter service on its Harlem and Hudson divisions. Almost 40,000 commuters ride those 340 trains each weekday between Manhattan and Westchester, Putnam and Dutchess counties.

The commission adopted, unanimously, recommendations made by Commissioner John T. Ryan who presided at the hearings.

Ryan's opinion took into consideration a petition signed by 5,000 Westchester commuters, complaints filed by 112 commuters listing 222 alleged deficiencies in service, and statements by others setting forth "their observations of Penn Central service in the commuter area."

Ryan recommended, and the commission ordered, more than a dozen specific steps they said must be taken by the railroad. If the improvements are not made, the PSC said, it is prepared to take court action against the Penn Central.

Under state law, courts can fine the railroad up to $5,000 for each violation of the commission's orders. The PSC already has complaints on file against the road calling for $40,000 in penalties, for alleged substandard service on its New York-Buffalo runs.

Penn Central, under the PCS's orders, must:

—Immediately take steps to buy or lease at least 80 new cars and 24 new engines to replace outmoded equipment over the next two years.

—Run trains on schedule at least 80 per cent of the time each month. A train is considered on time if it arrives no more than five minutes behind schedule at its final destination.

—Install within two years a public address system at all suburban stations to inform commuters of schedule deviations.

—Provide enough telephone lines and employes to man them so that anyone wanting to check on train schedules can receive a prompt response.

—Equip each locomotive-drawn commuter train with a two-way radio for summoning help after emergencies or equipment failure.

—Promptly clean up debris on tracks "to avoid delays to trains and (avoid) fires such as have occurred in the past."

—Speed up track resurfacing

—which generally assures a smoother ride—to cover 100 miles of track a year on each line, over the next three years, instead of the current 69 miles annually.

The PSC said that to insure "constant commission surveillance" of the Penn Central, the hearings and investigation of the railroad are considered still "open."

Commissioner Ryan said the order "should in no way hinder or interfere with" a $2.9 billion program of the Metropolitan Transportation Authority to improve regional transportation facilities, including a "long range" plan to modernize Penn Central equipment on the two lines. MTA spokesmen, however, testified to the contrary of Ryan's belief at the hearings.

The commissioner, the PSC announced, "took cognizance of improvement which have been and are being made by Penn Central" in both commuter service and equipment maintenance. But he "determined that additional steps must be taken at once if commuters are to be provided with the transportation service to which they are entitled."

Cuban Refugee-- Rated Superman

MADRID (UPI) — A Spanish doctor today described a Cuban refugee who fled Havana to Madrid in the wheel-bay of a jet airliner as a superman.

"There's no other word for it," said Dr. Luis de la Serna, chief of the medical services of Iberia Airlines. The refugee hitched his ride on an Iberia airliner.

De la Serna said the escapee, Armando Socarras Ramirez, 22, "should not be alive in theory. The chances against his survival were millions to one."

De la Serna advanced the same theory as that of doctors at Madrid's Gran Hospital General de la Beneficencia, where Socarras is recuperating.

They said the youth, clad only in a tropical shirt and trousers, had been deep-frozen in the tiny wheel compartment, where temperatures dropped to at least 40 degrees below zero.

De la Serna said the extreme cold reduced Socarras' need for oxygen, and enabled his body to combat the lack of pressure.

When Socarras arrived at Madrid, covered in ice and almost frozen stiff, his temperature was down to 93.2 degrees.

He was being carefully watched for signs of possible brain and kidney damage.

Doctors said his memory may have been affected by the state of shock in which he arrived.

Partner With Youth

The YMCA of Kingston and Ulster County will continue its summer program of service for deserving boys and girls of the community who are looking forward to the happiness that only a summer camp can give them. Last summer 54 boys and girls attended the YMCA summer day-camp on partial or full scholarships and 72 youngsters were members of the "Y" who were helped with Partner Membership dollars.

This annual program is made possible by local residents who are eager to assist these youth and thereby share in the pleasure and rewarding satisfaction of helping with activities that increase proper growth and development under suitable guidance.

To keep pace with the ever-increasing number of youngsters requesting and deserving such aid, the local YMCA must have the wholehearted support of all those who are in a position to lend support. One $25 Partner Membership will provide two weeks at summer camp or a full annual membership for a deserving youngster. Any amount, however, which will help pay the fees of a youth who otherwise would not be able to benefit from the YMCA's Day-Camp facilities will be greatly appreciated.

The day-camp soon will be in full swing. So it isn't too late to help make some child's summer one worth remembering. Further information about participating in this happiness partnership may be obtained from the YMCA offices at 507 Broadway.

Area residents are asked to keep in mind that an investment in youth today is an investment in a better community tomorrow. Everyone is affected by the alarming growth of delinquency and crime. One answer to this problem is support of programs which aid youth in their formative years.

The community could ill afford to lose this project.

Rockefeller Disaster

The disastrous abbreviated trip of Governor Nelson Rockefeller through Latin America calls for a reassessment of relations between those countries and the United States. The reappraisal must be done by governments "south of the border" as well as our own.

For one thing, either the Latin American rulers do not have sufficient control over their people, or they don't want to exercise it when a "Gringo" pays a visit. It has come to a shameful pass when the President of Venezuela, considered one of the enlightened countries to the south, has to ask an American to call off his trip there because harm may come to him. That can only mean that there's more than meets the eye. Demonstrations are one thing, but when the authorities assert that they cannot control them that's quite another.

It's a fair guess that Castro has exported communism to the countries the Governor has been visiting, but to what extent is not known. But it is significant that of nine countries in the Rockefeller itinerary, he was met by demonstrations in seven. That would have to mean that, as the Governor himself said, there was some organization of the disturbances coming from the outside.

Americans might be over-prone to view the Rockefeller disaster as meaning that we haven't done right by our neighbors down south. As a matter of fact, successive administrations in Washington have been well aware of the problems of Latin Americans and have tried to give them help. The U.S. is a good customer for Venezuelan oil and iron ore, so much so that that country has the highest per capita wealth of $900. Yet our envoy is rebuffed by its President.

The people of South America need help, but they must decide whether they want to embrace communism or democracy, and whether or not they want to call the United States friend and good neighbor.

Is This Welfare?

David Davis, 31, was given welfare money for golf permits and green fees because the New York social service department believed a physician's statement that Davis needed "therapeutic experience."

The city denied that it had given Davis grants to make up gambling losses at the race track. And Bronx District Attorney Burton D. Roberts said that Davis had applied for grants to buy a trotting horse, to buy household appliances and to send his wife to a psychiatrist for treatments three times a week.

What brought Davis into the hands of the District Attorney was a charge that he had cashed welfare checks, then claimed he had lost them, and received replacements, which he also cashed. He was charged with larceny, four counts of grand and three of petty larceny.

A man as ingenious as all this should have been able to earn an honest living for himself and his wife instead of spending his time figuring how to get Uncle Sam to support them in luxury.

Golf, gambling, trotting horses, psychiatric treatments. On second thought he would have had to have an income in five figures to earn all those fancy trimmings. He would have needed skill as well as ingenuity.

"If I May Have Your Ear for Just a Moment . . ."

David Lawrence Says

Intrusion Into Private Lives in Court Ruling

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court of the United States has just rendered a significant decision which could someday be interpreted as meaning that Congress has an almost unlimited right to regulate the private lives of the American people.

While the objective of the decision — to prevent racial discrimination — is a worthy one, the grounds on which the high court based its ruling are bound to be viewed as an intrusion into the personal relationships of individuals.

The case at issue arose because, in an isolated area of Arkansas, a private recreation center was established, and the owners felt they had a right to select their members or visitors. Under the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Congress prohibited discrimination or segregation at places of public accommodation whose operations "affect commerce." Included in these are "any motion picture house, theater, concert hall, sports arena, stadium or other place of exhibition or entertainment." The question was whether the Lake Nixon Club in Arkansas was a public place of entertainment or a private club exempt under the act.

The majority opinion of the court declared that the power of Congress to "regulate commerce" means that any facility can be regulated if it serves food that comes from other states and if any interstate travelers frequent the premises. In this case, the recreation area consists of a swimming pool, a snack bar, some paddle boats and other recreational facilities.

The fact that the club in Arkansas sold food and leased boats which may have come from outside the state, and the some visitors might have crossed state lines, was enough to bolster the court's contention that the club was actually subject to the congressional power to regulate interstate commerce.

Justice Black, in a minority opinion, challenged the reasoning which had been used in invoking the commerce clause. He said:

"It seems clear to me that neither the paddle boats nor the locally leased juke box are sufficient to justify a holding that the operation of Lake Nixon (club) affects interstate commerce within the meaning of the (Civil Rights) Act. While it is the duty of courts to enforce this important act, we are not called on, nor should we hold subject to that act this country people's recreation center, lying in what may be, so far as we know, a little 'sleepy hollow' between Arkansas hills miles away from any interstate highway."

"This would be stretching the commerce clause so as to give the federal government complete control over every little remote country place of recreation in every nook and cranny of every one of the 50 states. This goes too far for me."

Justice Black indicated clearly his belief that the commerce clause cannot be "stretched" to cover everything that happens in "interstate commerce." For if it can be, then Congress can use it to rearrange the whole pattern not only of business life but of individual recreation. It could even be argued that the operations of certain companies, however local in character, affect interstate commerce and that they must hire individuals on a quota basis.

The mere suspicion that discrimination might have motivated the choice of their employees would appear, according to this latest decision, to be adequate to make such requirements. If the crusade against discrimination by reason of race, religion or color is to be carried to the point of including every business or home which purchases something from outside the state, then restrictions can be imposed not only to regulate the sale of private property but also to govern all private clubs or organizations which directly or indirectly use any goods manufactured in other states.

The "stretching" of the Constitution in the latest case can be remedied by Congress, which could clarify its own meaning in the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and state specifically that the rights of the individual shall not be impaired, even though the worthy objective of abolishing discrimination is being sought.

pool is obviously a great magnet to mainland industry bent on expansion and seeking lower costs. There is considerable testimony, too, that Puerto Rican workers, when trained up, often give incomparable productivity rates than they get from their older mainland plants.

But officials concede here that insufficient attention has been paid so far to the development of technical and trade schools which would better prepare the island labor pool and add materially to the lure.

Feere, for one, is not looking only to industry for a big boost. He wants to see Puerto Rico's $200 million annual tourist business catapulted to $1 billion a year. The job gain would be huge.

And, ultimately, he and others in his New Progressive party count on statehood for the island, not least because it would bring more federal aid than it now gets. In fiscal 1968, its 3 million people drew $591 million in U.S. benefits. Louisiana, with a comparable population, got $3 billion. Its per capita edge: 5 to 1.

Statehood, of course, would one day compel business to pay the higher U.S. income tax rates. But Puerto Rican optimists think big industry is coming in for good. The island already imports more U.S. goods than Britain, and has exports of $1.340 billion a year — mostly to the mainland. The island could become a bustling little Japan.

Drew Pearson Says Rockefeller Has Been Hero In Country Now Barring Him

WASHINGTON — The failure of Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's mission to Latin America is more serious than the headlines indicate, and the headlines have been pretty bad.

The situation is comparable to the closing days of the Eisenhower administration when anti-American riots in Japan became so dangerous that President Eisenhower, then in Manila, had to cancel the remainder of his trip through the Far East.

Today Nelson Rockefeller, who for years has been a great hero in Latin America, has had to cancel his trip to Venezuela, a country where he has built supermarkets, and where he owns a hotel, a plantation and a home.

Rockefeller began winning friends in Latin America when he was first appointed American cultural and economic affairs by Franklin D. Roosevelt during the war. Later he became Assistant Secretary of State for Latin American affairs under both Roosevelt and Truman and participated in writing the Treaty of Chapultepec, which bars communism from the Western Hemisphere. Yet he has now been disinvited from visiting the country he is considered an adopted citizen.

Venezuela, the country which barred him, is considered one of the more pro-American countries of South America. It has just gone through a very orderly election, during which, by a very close vote, the Christian Democratic party — Catholic and considered conservative — replaced the more liberal Democratic Action party. The new president is Rafael Caldera, who has visited the United States a score of times and is considered pro-American.

Venezuela is the biggest exporter of oil to the United States; also the biggest exporter of iron ore to U.S. Steel and Bethlehem Steel. A group of American contractors, including Kaiser and Murchison, have just finished building Venezuela the hydroelectric Guri dam, bigger than any dam in the Soviet Union.

The top Venezuelan engineer in charge of this project was educated at MIT; and most of the new leaders of Venezuela have either studied or lived in the United States.

Reasons for Failure

Inside reasons why the Rockefeller mission has been a failure are:

1. President Nixon's speech on student riots in which he made slurring remarks regarding Latin American education, calling it "one of the most inferior systems of education anywhere in the world." This was bitterly resented by every Latin American university.

2. President Nixon's speech on Pan American Day, April 14, struck a sour note. He kissed off the Alliance for Progress and gave no promises for further Pan American cooperation. Latin Americans, of course, remembered Nixon's own unfortunate experience when, as Vice President, he was heckled at San Marcos University in Peru and nearly mobbed to death on the streets of Caracas, Venezuela.

3. The military junta in Peru has been intensifying its anti-American propaganda throughout Latin America. Orders have gone out to every Peruvian embassy in South America to damn the USA as the imperialistic Colossus of the North.

4. The Nixon administration waited until April to appoint an Assistant Secretary for Latin American Affairs. Meanwhile, no efforts were made to have Johnson specialists on Latin America continue. The new Assistant Secretary, Charles Meyer, has had experience with Sears Roebuck in Bogota and is described by Pan American diplomats as "simpatico." However, faced with the present bag of worms he appears to be lost.

5. The White House let one of the ablest ambassadors to the Organization of the American States, Sol Linowitz, retire and hesitated a long time in finding a replacement. Today it has drafted four ambassadors to replace him: Joseph John Jova, the top ambassador; Henry Catto, deputy ambassador; the son-in-law of Ovetta Culp Hobby, Ike's Secretary of HEW; a new ambassador yet to be appointed to the Cultural Council; another new ambassador to be appointed to the Economic Council.

Too Much Rush

6. Finally, Rockefeller himself delayed four months before starting his trip and then allotted only a day or two in each capital. The delay was understandable because he had pressing duties with the New York legislature in Albany. But although he took 22 advisers to cover every field of economic activity, his rushing through capital after capital struck a very sour note.

Unfortunately Latin Americans appreciate the warm abra more than cool, aloof efficiency.

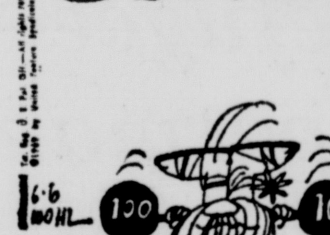

Today the Nixon administration is being compared with Kennedy's and Johnson's. Kennedy received a tumultuous welcome in Caracas and Bogota — in contrast to the ugly mob which greeted Nixon. And President Johnson received an equally tumultuous welcome in Mexico City.

Since Mexico has been our severest critic in the past, the cordial relations between Johnson and President Diaz Ordaz had considerable impact on the rest of the Americas. Diaz Ordaz made personal trips up to the LBJ Ranch and LBJ met him more than once on Mexican soil.

North Americans sometimes accused LBJ of being a Texas cornball; but Latin Americans appreciate a certain amount of warmth and corn. When he flew to Uruguay for a meeting with all the Pan American presidents, he remembered their names, country, made a profound impression.

SORRY, KID... YOU'LL NEVER MAKE IT AS A HEAVYWEIGHT.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

The President of the United States — take my word for it — is not a comedian. He's a pretty good laugh if someone else is telling the joke, but he's no teller. Neither was Lyndon Johnson nor Dwight D. Eisenhower. Jack Kennedy could tell an Irish story pretty well. But Hoover, Coolidge, Wilson and Taft couldn't draw a smile if they slipped on the ice walking down the front steps of the White House.

That is why I wondered over Nixon's tender bow not about a woman becoming President within the next 50 years. Notice that he is keeping the ladies at bay until long after he has finished HIS eight years. I couldn't understand the joke about Mom — any Mom — becoming our Chief Executive on or about the year 2019.

The country has gone to hell — everybody knows it — but not that far. So I concluded that Mr. Nixon was serious. He must have been. Nobody laughed. He smiled wanly, as he uttered the tragic words, but millions of husbands who heard it on the telly limped off to the nearest tavern to meditate.

A host of women I know wandered through my mind, and none of them was what might be called a first class candidate for the job of Madam President of the United States. Take my sister Adele. Aw, go ahead. She wouldn't hurt a mosquito. She isn't exactly nervous or frightened, but I can tell you that if she was running the country her office would be under Lincoln's bed. If an enemy sunk our fleet, Adele would say a rosary and that would square that problem.

How about Clang-Clang Callahan, who used to get loaded, walk up to a street corner, divest herself of all her clothing, and turn in a false fire alarm? Clang-Clang has possibilities. Just maintain a good wine cellar in the White House and put fire boxes in every room. She'd show you a little action — more than you will get from Nixon, I can tell you.

Then there is Phyllis Diller. The lady with the four-foot cigarette holder grins like FDR. She may not be sufficiently intellectual for the job and is also addicted to putting roasts in the oven in the morning — not to eat, silly — just to make the house smell nice.

My mother-in-law Maggy was a truly great soul — she'd give you the bra off her chest — but in the middle of World War II she sat frowning and I asked her if I could help. She was reading the Journal-American. The Japs ain't on our side, are they?" she asked.

I have a beautiful granddaughter named Amy who might make it. She's hardly three and when she and her six older brothers and sisters get dressed to go out to dinner with their parents, Amy makes sure that she is the last one to be ready. The family is waiting at the foot of the stairs and she comes halfway down in her stiff starch dress, pauses, and murmurs: "I the queen."

She could be a candidate. My dear friend Sophie Kroll of Asbury Park wouldn't want it. If she was President, and a military aide reported that enemy missiles were coming our way, Sophie would stick her dainty fingers in her ears and say: "Don't think about it and it will go away."

Twiggy, to coin a phrase, is pointless. She is so skinny that they say she is going to have her chest tattooed with her name. Sophie would stick her dainty fingers in her ears and say: "Don't think about it and it will go away."

Performed MD Duties, Was Really a Carpenter

NEW YORK (UPI)—A 30-year-old Italian immigrant who posed as a doctor from Bologna and performed medical duties at two hospitals—actually was a carpenter from Bari.

Bronx Dist. Atty. Burton Roberts said Thursday Anthony Guarino's after-hours activities led to his downfall. When he took out licenses to marry two women, although he was already the husband of a third, the trouble began.

Guarino was charged on 60 counts of violating the state law against practicing medicine without a license. He also was charged with making false statements on the two marriage licenses. He was held in $1,500 bail pending a hearing June 12.

Roberts said Guarino worked for five weeks as a staff physician at Parkchester General Hospital, where he "assisted in operations, gave injections, examined patients and wrote prescriptions."

The district attorney said the "doctor" also assisted at 20 operations performed at Pelham Bay General Hospital by Dr. Louis Perrotta, a 73-year-old surgeon on the staff at both Parkchester and Pelham Bay.

Guarino's medical career ended March 8, when he slipped on the grounds at Pelham Bay General and broke his ankle. He is threatening to sue the hospital.

A nurse at Parkchester who was one of Guarino's alleged "fiancées" became suspicious when he started borrowing money from her. She reported worker and had borrowed suspicions to the police and enough money from her to Salvatore Bonvisuto, a plainclothes patrolman on the Bronx with his 29-year-old wife assigned to the case.

Investigation established that Guarino, a native of Bari, also had taken out a license to marry a factory years ago.

Man Presented With New Flag, Old One Burned

AUBURN, N.Y. (UPI)—Andrew Tarbey, a local photographer whose American flag was partially burned last Friday night while on display for Memorial Day, has a new one presented to him by the Owasco-Fleming Kiwanis Club.

Meanwhile a reward for the might purchase a repeater shot-gun for use in case the flag person or persons who burned the first flag, has been Just how the flag was burned the remained a mystery. Police say Lodge of Elks, has donated $50 it could have been done by vandals, or by an accidentally Tarbey also indicated he tossed cigarette.

NFA Students Get 15 Days

NEWBURGH, N. Y. (AP)—Three students have been sentenced to 15-day terms in the Orange County jail following their conviction here Thursday on disorderly conduct charges stemming from their aborted attempt in April to seize the Newburgh Free Academy.

The three, George Flemming, 19, David Newkirk, 18, and Michael Park, 16, were arrested April 23. Police charged they used the public address system to order white students from the public high school.

Murphy Gets New State Job At Loss in Pay

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Joseph H. Murphy, who recently resigned as state tax commissioner, has been named chairman of the State Housing Finance Agency with a cut in pay of more than $12,000.

Gov. Rockefeller said Thursday that he accepted Murphy's resignation, effective June 30, but acted to keep Murphy in state service.

Murphy resigned to resume private law practice. He had been paid $37,275 in his full-time job as commissioner. The new job pays $25,000 a year.

The housing agency issues bonds to provide mortgage loans to such concerns as limited-profit housing companies, nursing homes and community-development corporations.

Persons close to Murphy said he felt he could not meet family and other obligations on his state salary and wanted to return to the more lucrative practice of law.

Murphy has five children, four still in school. The youngest recently underwent open-heart surgery.

Murphy has been tax commissioner since 1959, when Rockefeller first took office as governor.

Fire Destroys Wax Figures; Nixon's Saved

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (UPI)—President Nixon was saved but hundreds of other wax figures were destroyed by a $700,000 fire Thursday which ripped through the Burning Springs Wax Museum, a 75-year-old tourist attraction.

The Nixon statue was removed from the damaged building and "checked" into a motel across the street for the night. The cause of the fire was not determined.

A spokesman for the establishment said most of the museum's large collection melted in the heat of the blaze. The building, which overlooks the Horseshoe Falls, contained 50 scenes from Canadian and American history.

One firefighter was treated at Greater Niagara Memorial Hospital for a minor injury, but no other injuries were reported.

The museum was one of three wax exhibits in the city.

Doing the Right Thing

A QUIZ FOR THE GROOM'S FAMILY

A number of the questions I am asked about weddings comes from the mothers of prospective grooms or from the grooms themselves.

Two of my sons were married within the past year so as a recent mother of the groom, I have a special interest in some of the following questions. The answers should be helpful to others who are about to be in the same position. Are these true or false?

Q. When a couple becomes engaged, the man's parents should telephone or write the girl's parents as soon as possible rather than expecting the girl's family to contact them first.

A. True. Traditionally the man's parents should make the first move, but if they don't, the bride's family should go ahead and make the first contact themselves.

Q. The name of the groom's family should appear on the wedding invitation.

A. False. In this country, invitations are issued in the name of the bride's family only. They give the wedding. To include the names of the groom's parents would imply that both families were paying the expenses. If for some reason the groom's family were giving the wedding, then the invitation would be in their name.

Q. The groom's father must wear the same style of clothes as the male members of the wedding party.

A. False. He may do so and usually does, but he is not required to. He may wear the same clothes as would be appropriate for other wedding guests.

Q. It is preferable for the groom's mother to wear the same style of dress as the bride's mother.

A. True. The wedding party should present a picture that is as harmonious as possible. The groom's mother should check, therefore, with the bride's mother to select a dress compatible with hers.

Q. The groom's family may send out wedding announcements.

A. True. Although announcements are normally sent by the bride's family, the groom's family may wish to send additional ones. This is perfectly correct provided they are worded in the name of the bride's parents: "Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jones announce the marriage of their daughter," etc.

Q. The groom's father is expected to stand in the receiving line at the reception.

A. False. Not only is this not expected of him, but he will be happier and more useful in circulating among the guests.

Q. The groom's family is required to give a rehearsal dinner.

A. False. It is not an obligation, but a rehearsal dinner hosted by the groom's parents is an increasingly popular means of reciprocating for the hospitality extended by the bride's family.

Q. When the bride and groom come from different parts of the country, the groom's family may give a second reception for the newly married couple.

A. True. But it should be a party in their honor rather than a "second wedding reception" that might appear to be competing with the one given by the bride's family.

PAW Schedules Play Reading Night; June 11

The Performing Arts of Woodstock will have another Wednesday Evening Play Reading June 11 at 8:30 p.m. The meeting place is the Historical Society Building in Woodstock, 6 Rock City Road, the large white house next to the Bank of Orange and Ulster Counties. These readings are open to the public and there is no obligation to read, attend, listen and give your opinion. In May, more of the off-off-Broadway plays by playwright Sam Shepherd were read and PAW discovered something very nice in "Cowboy Number Two."

The purpose of the Play Reading Group is to study plays, old and new, and to discover the works of new playwrights. Welcomed are original scripts, particularly local ones. It is at play readings that PAW often finds material for future productions.

This month's selection will be a full three act play, first presented in New York City at the Actors Studio in 1962 as a one act play titled, "There Is Something Out There." The name of the play is "And Things That Go Bump in the Night," written by Terrance McNally.

Awards Are Given At Talmud Torah; Hebrew School

Rabbi Harry Z. Schectman conferred awards to Elaine Lipton and Jody Smoller Thursday, June 5, at the final session of this term at Talmud Torah of Kingston.

These awards were made possible by a grant established by Mr. and Mrs. Sam Barnovitz in memory of their parents.

Each school year, one or two students are selected on the basis of outstanding scholarship and exemplary religious conduct.

Rabbi Schectman presented cash awards to Elaine Lipton and Jody Smoller at an assembly of all the students and faculty, marking the end of the school year.

The Talmud Torah Board, chaired by Ralph Wall, manages this Hebrew and religious school of both Congregation Agudas Achim and Anavath Israel for all children desiring a traditional Jewish education.

Hurley Women's Guild Sets Date For Next Meeting

A member of the Hurley Women's Guild for Christian Service, Mrs. Jack Gill, will show slides of her recent around-the-world tour at the next meeting of the group on Tuesday, June 10.

All women of the Church are invited to the church auditorium at 6:15. The evening will start with a covered-dish supper. All are asked to donate a place setting, casserole or salad specialty. The Afternoon Circle, led by Chairman Mrs. John Gill, will provide dessert and beverage and conduct the evening's slide program.

The quarterly business meeting of the Guild will be held and brief reports will be given by various committees which have been working on the purchase of needed items for use in the Church building. These include carpeting in the Choir loft and a new communion set.

The Stone House Day Committee, led by Mrs. Alfred Byrne, is busily preparing for July 12. At that time stone houses in historic Hurley will be open to the public and a Dutch Day Sale will be held. A progress report will be given and additional Guild business conducted such as the collection of $1.25 dues for the National Department of Women's Work of the Reformed Church in America. Orders for Dutch flower bulbs will be accepted for the next month by members of the Evening Circle.

Register Now For Charm School

Miss Marie Bowman of Buffalo will direct Britt's Charm and Modeling School program for teens, preteens and adults this year.

The 10-lesson program is specially designed by Miss Bowman with individually grouped classes for the seven to 18 year-old girls.

Adult classes will be split into two categories — Homemakers, and Career and College Women, aged 18 and over.

Students will receive instruction in all areas of charm and modeling, as well as an opportunity to actually model in a fashion show at the end of the program.

Area experts will appear several times during the program to counsel students on special aspects of charm and modeling. The course will be conducted in Britt's in Kingston, beginning July 7.

Students will receive various favors and graduates will be awarded certificates of completion. Incentive Awards will be made to students accomplishing outstanding achievement.

Miss Bowman's qualifications include attendance at the State University of New York at Buffalo and graduation from two Buffalo institutes: the Ferrel School of Modeling and the Studio Theatre School.

She has an extensive background in radio, television and modeling and holds two New York beauty titles: "Miss Sweetest Day," 1960, and she was the first "Niagara Frontier Milk Princess," in 1962.

In addition, Miss Bowman is known throughout the state as a fashion coordinator and has taught more than 5,000 students in four states and is recognized by educational officials as an expert in her field.

Her other interests include enthusiasm for horsemanship, art and theater as well as Girl Scout counseling and Campfire Girl programs. Miss Bowman has been successfully engaged in teaching charm and modeling for the past five years.

Interested individuals may contact Britt's for more information.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Folks:

Here are some good tips about using clothes dryers that a leading manufacturer was kind enough to tell us:

"Dryers are perhaps the least understood of all household appliances.

"Dryers restore the natural nap of fabric. Corduroy, velvet, terrycloth look and feel like new only if tumbled dry."

"They relax wear and care wrinkles in the multitude of 'no-iron' garments available for purchase—not only perma-type press, but also the chemical man-made fibers and the garments with wrinkle-resistant finishes.

"Fabrics get no warmer in a dryer than they would in the sun on a summer's day."

"The knowledgeable shopper can eliminate a lot of ironing by choosing fabrics wisely at point of sale."

"If you use coin-operated laundries, choose those with multi-loading dryers that have varying temperature controls. Choose the lowest setting for chemical man-made fibers, medium for perma-type press and other wrinkle-resistant cotton finishes."

"Garments that iron themselves in the dryer should be removed and folded or put on hangers IMMEDIATELY after tumbling stops."

"Because of its natural moisture content, cotton should be removed from the dryer while it STILL contains a hint of moisture. Overdried cottons have a dry, harsh, unpleasant feel."

"Items which should NOT be tumbled dry with heat are those containing rubber or foam rubber, bath mats and rugs containing modacrylic, shower curtains and other plastics, woolsens labeled 'handwash' and 'glass fiber.'"

Folks, aren't clothes dryers fabulous things? Do remember all this valuable info when using your dryer.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Folks:
Here's another one of the cute letters I receive on mistakes made by young brides:

"For our first dinner, I was eager to prove to my husband that he had not married just an average cook, but had literally hit the jackpot!

"I decided to start off with oxtail soup because it sounded so exotic."

"Well, we got no further than that. The recipe called for 'pepper,' so I took off the top of the pepper shaker and just dumped in the works, which seemed like 'plenty' to me."

"That was 51 years ago and my husband still calls me the 'hottest cook in town.'"

Great Grandma Bender

Dear Heloise:

When making bacon, lettuce, and tomato sandwiches, I broil the bacon until it is crisp, then crumble it. Mix it with mayonnaise and put it in the refrigerator for an hour or so.

The mayonnaise absorbs the fat of the bacon taste in every bite of the sandwich.

For the children, I chop up the tomatoes and lettuce, too, and mix it all together. It's much easier for the children to handle.

Marie Bennett

Dear Heloise:

How many times have you knocked your brains out when your husband says, "Where are the flints for my lighter?"

For years I've rooted through junk drawers without finding anything but a frustrating self.

Soooo, I took the flints and taped them to the outside of the can of lighter fluid.

Who ever heard of losing a big can of lighter fluid?

Glenda Bitner
Gal, that is 100% genius. You really did yourself proud. Now, take a bow.

Food Tips

To extract pickles from a jar neatly, take an old fork and bend the tines upward into more of a curve.

You can chop shelled nuts quickly by placing them in a plastic bag and smashing them with a hammer.

Parsley washed in hot water instead of cold is easier to chop and really more flavorful.

The Way to Healing

For centuries the Bible has promised that God will heal "all thy diseases."

Can we accept this promise today?

Can all the ills of mankind be healed with the aid of prayer?

Ralph W. Cessna, an experienced teacher and practitioner of Christian Science, has a deeply Christian answer to these questions in his free lecture, "The Way to Healing."

Pets Are Nice, But . . .

Widow, 86, Is Dogged by Problems

By SHANE CROSBY

LYONSVILLE
There is nothing like a pet dog around the house, and for one resident of this quiet Mar-bletown community, all seemed in order with five dogs and six puppies here until she left them in the hands of a friend while on a visit to New York City.

In what has all the markings of "The Case of the Sorcerer's Apprentice," officials of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and town officials are still shaking their heads as more than 70 pet dogs are being removed from the property.

Marbletown Chief Constable John Albright Sr. and Justice of the Peace Edmund Ruffner related the story Wednesday as officials bedded down most of the dogs and readied themselves for a second trip to the home of Mrs. Rachel Seidenberg.

Described as a "nice old widow of 86," Mrs. Seidenberg told the justice that she had raised dogs almost all her life and wanted some around her now that she is alone.

Become 70 Plus
She told the two officials that she left her pets in the hands of a man while she visited New York City some months ago to "get my check" and when she returned she found the dogs loose after the man had left a door open.

Justice Ruffner said she told him that while she was away "the dogs had bred indiscriminately" and that the 11 have since grown to more than 70, all German Spitz and part Collie.

Ruffner said the woman was concerned for the dogs and did not want to let them go, so she kept them all just as she had taken care of the 11.

Ruffner said he met with the woman while on a recent check of expired dog licenses and said he thought all she had was the original 11, after reading the credit of the old license.

When he went to her Lyonsville house to check on the expired license, he said, "it sounded like a menagerie." When he stepped out of his car he was met by three huge police dogs, that he said were owned by a neighbor.

Quick Retreat

A quick retreat followed, and when the justice returned on Sunday he said he was met by dogs again, but this time by "three cute little puppies." Seconds later, 12 dogs and puppies were seen in a rear pen at the Seidenberg home.

"That's 15 altogether, without going inside," said Ruffner. The widow opened the door a crack for the justice and quietly said, "Won't you come in for a moment?"

Once inside, the startled justice saw "at least 25 more dogs." He said the shock came when he entered the room and the 25 "flew at me, over my head and between my legs."

He told Mrs. Seidenberg that she should call the SPCA in Kingston and left her with that thought and some obvious relief to be outside.

A call to the town office since the visit brought Ruffner and the chief constable to the scene Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. when a neighbor said the dogs were fighting.

They said, "there was not one sound" from the house as they drove up. "It was completely still."

"When the door opened—25 dogs jumped us," said the two. The Kingston office of the Ulster County SPCA began operations Wednesday afternoon to remove the dogs at the apparent relief of the woman. Ruffner said she seemed trapped by her pets and was confused about what to do about them.

The officials told the widow that the dogs would be given homes after checkups by the SPCA kennel in Kingston.

Will Give Donation

They said she was happy with that thought and said she would give a donation to the SPCA to help care for the pets. Ruffner said he told the woman she could keep the five dogs she wanted, but told her "no females" could stay, an apparent attempt to forestall a repeat of the problem.

He said that some of the white and brown dogs were injured and that one was blind, apparently from scraps with some of the 70 other dogs, and a neighbor told officials to check into closets and drawers because the widow would attempt to hide some of the smaller puppies.

The pets that were removed, ranging in age from one day to six years, are in the hands of the SPCA in Kingston and after a few good meals and some time away from their "brothers and sisters," most are expected to be placed in area homes.

Ulster Academy Appoints Two To Math, History Departments

KINGSTON
Appointments of two staff members to Ulster Academy were made known today.

Michael Powsner was named the school's master of mathematics and Richard M. Dolinger was appointed to the history department.

Powsner is a cum laude graduate of Cooper Union with a B.S. in Chemical Engineering. He earned his M.S. in Chemical Engineering from New York University. In 1962-63 Powsner was a Fellow in Mathematics at Wesleyan University and earlier studied mathematics instruction for one year at Williams College. He also has studied at the University of Vermont, Stevens Institute of Technology and Russell Sage College.

Powsner's teaching career includes five years as a teaching Fellow at NYU and five years as a teacher of physics, chemistry and mathematics at Bennington High School in Vermont.

He is a member of Tau Beta Pi, the Honor Engineering Society, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the Vermont Academy of Arts and Sciences and the American Chemical Society. He also is a member of the Board of Trustees of the Bennington Free Library and the executive board of the Bennington Unitarian Fellowship.

Dolinger majored in Political Science at Brooklyn College and holds a B.S. from the State University of New York. He is currently working on a Masters Degree in Political Science and Area Studies at Brooklyn College.

He is the Associate Dean of Students at Sheephead Bay High School and the faculty director of the Student Independent Study Program. He has taught a variety of courses in the Operation Head Start Program during the summer months.

At Ulster Academy, Dolinger will be teaching seminar-size classes in European and American History. He also will develop a new curriculum in Area Studies for the Academy's first senior class in 1969-70.

Raymond A. Nelson is the Academy's headmaster.

Junior League Assumes Homemaker Service

KINGSTON
Establishment of a homemaker service for Ulster County was assumed as a project at a recent meeting of the Junior League of Kingston.

The League voted to take on the responsibility of organizing the much needed service at a recent meeting. It is expected that once established the homemaker service will become a self-sustaining agency.

In the next few months a steering committee from the Junior League will enlist the support of community leaders for the purpose of setting up a community board of directors.

Hiring of a part time executive director and opening of an office will be the next steps. It is planned that homemaker hiring and training will start in the fall.

The homemaker program is a unique family service based on the premises that the family is important in the society and that community life is strengthened when home life is strengthened.

Homemakers are mature, responsible women and in some instances men, who are sensitive to human needs.

It is the goal of the Homemaker service to provide a mother substitute to keep a young family together when crisis has temporarily removed the mother; to provide a homemaker for the aged and chronically ill so that they can remain at home rather than being institutionalized; and to send homemakers into homes as teachers when family life is threatened due to ignorance and lack of understanding of budgeting, shopping and housekeeping skills.

Calls Rhinebeck 'Special'

Architect Favors Historical Zoning

By TIM SCHUSTER

RHINEBECK A Rhinebeck architect has become deeply engrossed in the feasibility of setting up historical zoning in this northern Dutchess County village.

"Historical zoning differs from zoning or a building code," Richard Crowley told The Freeman. "Regular zoning limits where you can build; a building code limits the materials and structure; historical zoning would insure the maintenance of the character of future buildings, regulated by certain architectural characteristics."

Primary concern in this campaign would be East Market Street, one block of commercial buildings which were built in the mid-1800's.

Besides the limitation on the architecture of future buildings in the village, an aim would be to maintain many of the genuinely handsome and character-istic homes which abound along the tree-shaded streets.

Confusion Could Result

While Crowley's interest has waxed stronger and stronger over the past few years, he does not anticipate detailed work to be done on his pet project until this autumn. Regular zoning is currently being revamped in the village, and he feels only confusion could result if this historical aspect were to be introduced at this juncture.

But why bother with this type of restrictive legislation? Is the Village of Rhinebeck really that special?

"I didn't realize how really special it was until I had spent some time away from here," answered Crowley. "It is the only authentic village with pre-dominant 19th century architecture within easy driving distance of the metropolitan area, and I am not alone in this statement."

"Many houses in the village are widely circulated in archi-ecture magazines and trade journals as excellent examples of the 20 different sub-styles of 19th century architectural design. Of course, these products vary in excellence, and many have decayed through misuse and neglect, but many should be preserved as something of worth."

Special

Membership in the Dutchess County Landmarks Association has only strengthened Crowley's stand on the possibility of historical zoning. Concurrence among members of that group upon the desirability of such a step would tend to lend weight to the thought.

And what would be the legal aspects of such a step?

"Public hearings would have to be held and the Village Board would have to approve historical zoning. There are several good examples of this type of restrictions being put to good use. The Georgetown section of Washington, D. C. is a prime example. West Nyack, down the Hudson River 50 miles, recently adopted similar zoning."

Could Pass Judgment

An architectural review board, similar in nature to the zoning board, would have to be instigated. This group would pass judgment on the desirability of plans for any construction in the village, restricting itself to considering whether the proposed building would clash with the intended character.

"Naturally, one couldn't expect everyone to build his home or apartment house in traditional gothic or Georgian style. The costs would be prohibitive these days. But the elimination of modernistic or futuristic experiments, or glass and steel condominium apartments, would be a realistic objective," said Crowley.

"People some here because they like it," he continued. "We have a rich heritage of a series of small houses. Apartment buildings are considered and being built here because of the change of the village. But uncharacteristic apartment houses ruin just what the people themselves are seeking."

"The big question here is 'How do you grow without spoiling what you've got?' And that would be the purpose of any review board, to keep from spoiling the character."

It was noted that industrial growth in Kingston and Poughkeepsie would naturally generate the influx of persons into the charming villages of northern Dutchess County. This suburban influx has already been absorbed to a great degree, and happily. The change is inevitable; channeling the growth to protect the resident would be to everyone's advantage.

Crowley pointed out that the Dog Missing?

SPCA Has New Arrival of 5

KINGSTON

Have you lost your dog?

If your pet is missing, you might check the Ulster County SPCA shelter on Brabant Road.

On Thursday, complaints that a pack of dogs had caused a disturbance in the vicinity of the Sophie Finn School on Mary's Avenue were investigated. Later five of a pack of seven canines were rounded up and taken to the shelter.

The other two dogs ran away. Efforts will be made to locate owners by checking the license tags. Unlicensed dogs are usually held at the shelter for at least three days. Owners may claim their pets by calling the SPCA. A charge for picking up the animals must be paid before the dogs are released.

Owners of dogs are warned not to let their pets run at large on public streets. The dog ordinance is being enforced.

Resume Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Compar and union negotiators resume talks today in an effort to avert a strike that could shut down Washington National and Dulles International airports. Local 1747 of the International Association of Machinists (IAM) set a 6 p.m. EDT strike deadline after fuel truck drivers and baggage handlers voted overwhelmingly to reject a 70-cent-an-hour increase over 40 months offered by the Allied Aviation Fuel Co. Ground crewmen at the airports, also IAM members, have promised to honor any picket lines.

DELAMATER HOUSE:
PRIME EXAMPLE OF GOTHIC COTTAGE

proposed West Dutchess Turnpike might alter the nature of the area, much as the Taconic State Parkway had a profound effect on the Towns of Milan and Clinton not many years ago.

Would a project of this nature necessarily receive public support? Do most people really care whether the "character" of the village remains intact, or whether a gradual disintegration of the 19th century style occurs?

Many Favorable Comments

"You would be surprised at the number of favorable comments I have elicited from people in the village," answered Crowley. "A rough gauge of interest can be gotten by looking at the Rhinebeck Historical Society. Only a year old, this organization already has more than 100 members actively interested in the past and future of the area."

The society is currently engaged in tracing houses listed on a map produced in 1798 in the Town of Rhinebeck, which then included Red Hook.

The mammoth project of renovating the block of commercial buildings on East Market Street would necessitate consolidation of properties by forming doorways between the adjacent buildings. None of the buildings can currently use the third floors because of fire regulations, any many are not using the second floors either. A certain amount of cleaning, sand blasting, and removal of garish signs would "show a vast improvement."

A fire during the Civil War took down the wooden frame structures on the block, and the rebuilding composes the bulk of the present brick facade.

One of the private homes much cited is the "Henry Delamater House," 44 Montgomery Street. It was designed by A. J. Davis, a leading banker in 1844.

"It is about the best of many wooden Gothic cottages in the Hudson Valley, from New York City up," expounded Crowley. "There were many in the Hudson Valley designed by Davis."

Richard Crowley has certainly done his homework. He has 150 photographs of porches on Rhinebeck houses in his own architectural survey.

It remains to be seen whether Rhinebeck Village will be a mid-19th century replica in another 20 years.

Two Heart Posts For City Banker

KINGSTON During the recent annual meeting of the New York State Heart Assembly, Dewese W. DeWitt was elected to serve the Heart Association in two capacities—one, a three-year term as member-at-large on the state's Board of Directors and the other, a delegate to serve on the Assembly of the American Heart Association for a two-year term, one of 14 from New York State.

The Assembly of American Heart Association is composed of delegates from every state and territory of the country and is the advisory body of the Association.

Primary function of the Assembly is to consider and review the activities of the Association and recommend policies for the guidance of the Board of Directors.

DeWitt is president of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Kingston.

Waterfront Funds

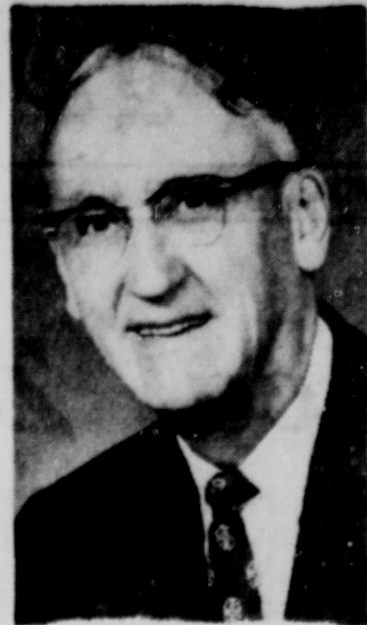

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — The Buffalo Urban Renewal Agency has approved an additional $707,000 in relocation funds for residents and businesses in the Waterfront Development Project.

The funds will be used to ease the adjustment period for homeowners and businesses who are forced to find new quarters as the project's demolition phase is completed.

The original relocation estimate was $650,000, but that amount has been exhausted with more relocations yet to come.

2,553 Persons In County Given Food Assistance

ALBANY

U. S. Department of Agriculture figures indicate that 2,553 Ulster County residents were the recipients of the Commodity Distribution Program in March.

Columbia County, the only other area county to receive the U.S.D.A. donated commodities, listed 1,750 recipients.

More than 576,565 persons throughout New York State benefited from the program which distributes food to low income persons across the state.

Only five commercial oyster hatcheries exist in the world.

Viet Vet Red Cross Speaker

KINGSTON

Speaker for the annual dinner meeting of the Ulster County Chapter of the American Red Cross, which is to be held at the Sky Top Restaurant, Route 28, Wednesday, June 11, at 7 p.m. will be Sgt. Auguster Carter, U. S. Army, who is presently stationed at the U. S. Military Academy, West Point.

Sgt. Carter went to Vietnam Dec. 4, 1967 and was first stationed with the 5th Battalion, 22nd Artillery under the 1st Field Force at An Khe. Later he was transferred to Ben Khe and Qui Nhon, where he suffered a wound during a military operation. He was returned to action at Pleiku and Chu Lai and suffered a serious wound at Binh Tuy from where he was evacuated by 155th Air Ambulance to Nha Trang. En route to the hospital, the helicopter in which he was being evacuated was shot down. Following treatment in Vietnam he was evacuated to the 106th Hospital, Japan, where he spent one month and then was sent to Andrews Air Force Base and on to St. Albans for final recovery.

During his time in service, both in the United States and overseas, Sgt. Carter has had occasion to have contact with Red Cross several times. He will recount his experiences with the Red Cross and on military operations in Vietnam and "will tell it like it was."

This meeting is open to the public and anyone desiring to attend should contact the Ulster County Chapter of the American Red Cross for reservations before June 9.

Indians March In New York

KINGSTON

The Pacers Drum and Bugle Corps of Poughkeepsie captured a first place trophy in the "Pow Wow Review" Drum Corps Show at Dietz Stadium on Memorial Day.

Some 4,000 spectators watched six Corps compete for top honors in the show. The second place trophy went to The Knickerbockers from New York City and The Emerald Cadets from New Haven, Conn., placed third.

The Kingston Indians and the Troop 12 Indians, who earlier in the day had participated in parades in Cornwall, Port Jervis and Kingston, performed in exhibition at the show they sponsored.

On Sunday, June 1, the Kingston Indians traveled to New York City where they participated in the Israel Parade, commemorating the 21st anniversary of the Nation of Israel. The Indians, witnessed by an estimated 200,000 spectators, were among the 60,000 marchers who paraded up 5th Avenue in the morning and afternoon.

Local Clergyman Masonic Chaplain

KINGSTON

The Rev. Robert T. Shellenberger of 209 Albany Avenue has received an appointment as Grand Chaplain it was announced by Dr. Charles F. Gessell, State Grand Master of Masons.

The Rev. Mr. Shellenberger became a Mason in 1945. He served as Master of Kingston Lodge 10 in 1953 and has been active in the affairs of the lodge having been chaplain for 12 Masters.

The Rev. Mr. Shellenberger is rector of St. John's Episcopal Church and has been resident in Kingston for 26 years. He is married to the former Louise McDaniel and they have one son, Robert Jr., a Major in the U. S. Air Force.

Freemasonry, the oldest fraternal organization, has a United States membership of four million and about six million world wide. Its members are men who meet on a common level to further the principles of friendship, morality and brotherhood.

Among famous Masons have been 14 American presidents, and many world figures in public life and the arts. The order's charitable and benevolent activities, which include New York's Masonic Home in Utica and the renowned Masonic Foundation for Medical Research and Human Welfare, have had far-reaching humanitarian effects on the lives of all, non-Masons as well as Masons.

Post 150 Committes for Saturday Event

KINGSTON

Committees have been named for the spring dance sponsored by the Kingston Post 150, American Legion in conjunction with the 50th anniversary of the Legion.

The event will be held Saturday at the Hidden Harbor Yacht Club in Port Jervis.

Chairmen finalizing plans this week are Robert J. Ackert and Charles M. King, co-chairmen; Frank T. Roedel, program; Gerry Geuss, tickets; Myer Kaplan, booster; Joseph Mercier, awards and Joseph Polcano and Robert Delaney, publicity.

Other committees are Erv DeWitt and Myer Kaplan, entertainment; Robert Post, Fred Bayona, Al Teetsel, food; Pat Heppner and Robert Ackert, decorations; Paul Gardner, Al club. Every month there had been at least one activity for either public service or fund-raising following the pattern of the Kiwanis clubs. Attendance has continued high and the members are active. The two funds which were created last fall will remain a continuing activity so that each year there will be the gift to the Children's Home and Mother Cabrini Home as well as a distribution of food baskets at Thanksgiving for needy families.

The Vocation Guidance Committee reported a successful training program in conjunction with BOCES. Chairman Patrick Battino stated that 30 students participated in a building maintenance clinic conducted by local business men which his group arranged. Several other programs were planned for the future which also will have local business participating.

Dancing will be from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. to the music of Harry Malsenholder's orchestra. Legionnaires and their guests who desire reservations may contact ticket chairman Geuss or Vice Commanders Clarence Hyde and John Guhn by calling the post home.

Historical Society To Hear Dr. Erbstein

MARBLETOWN His subject for the 5 p.m. address will be A Look Into the Future.

Dr. George Erbstein, President of Ulster County Community College, will be the guest speaker at the Ulster County Historical Society's annual supper Saturday, June 7 at Beaver House in Marbletown.

Dr. Erbstein was scheduled and coffee will be served by to speak at the May meeting of the hospitality committee, Miss the Society, but an equipment Grace Elliott, chairman. Mrs. malfunction at Beaver House Myron VanDemark of Highland forced cancellation of that talk, will be in charge of serving.

Kenneth Hosbrouck, vice-president of the Society, will present the Society. A box supper will follow Dr. Erbstein's talk. Dessert will be served by the hospitality committee.

Two-Year Agreement Between U.S. Spain

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The few days unless Congress voices objection to it and votes to strike rental funds from the foreign aid bill.

The Spanish government originally sought a five-year extension of the agreement and asked a total of $1 billion. The United States first offered $140 million. When officials in Madrid reduced their demand to $300 million, Washington raised its offer to $175 million for five years.

At that point negotiations reached an impasse and the agreement, first signed in 1953, was extended for six months.

Terms of the agreement were disclosed Thursday by Sen. J. William Fulbright after the Senate Foreign Relations Committee he heads met behind closed doors with State Department officials, including U. Alexis Johnson, undersecretary for political affairs.

Although the Arkansas Democrat refused to disclose exactly how much the United States had agreed to pay for the right to operate two air bases and one submarine base in Spain, he said the figure was well below the $175 million offer Washington reportedly made several weeks ago.

There were reports the two countries had settled on $50 million over the two-year period and Fulbright said the agreement included a loan to the Spanish government from the Export-Import Bank for weapons purchases in the United States.

A formal signing of the lease extension was expected within a

Grim Aftermath For Fatal Blaze At Saratoga

SARATOGA SPRINGS (UPI)—"You're in this business as long as you have your health."

With those words trainer Harold Story expressed the outlook of those who owned the 43 trotters and pacers killed in a general alarm fire at the Saratoga harness track.

The blaze erupted in Barn J near daybreak Thursday. Loss was set at more than $500,000 and the cause was under investigation.

The charred bodies of the Standard bred—including Jostle, Yankee Adam, and Dunkirk—were bulldozed into pits for burial.

Jostle, a mare which earned $40,000 as a three-year-old last season, was valued at $15,000 by Story, her trainer.

Adio Bet managed to break from the 48-stall barn and was the only horse in it to survive.

Joseph, Huska, a groom who was sleeping at one end of the barn, told police flames awakened him about 3:50 a. m. Huska said he managed to open the doors of three stalls, but was unable to make the panicked horses move out.

Trainers Charlie Peckham, a 73-year-old track veteran from Prattville, N.Y., and Harold White of Waitsfield, Vt., in addition to Story, lost practically all their horses in the fire.

Other trotters and pacers killed included Ricci Great A, Yankee Gem, Tough Time, Jounce, Little Lil' Shooter and Ricci Fernando.

Ernest B. Morris, track president, said he had spoken with the Horsemen's Benevolent Association about setting up a matching fund to help the owners and trainers get back on their feet.

Jostle, owned by Peggy Hutchinson of Brookville, Md., and Dunkirk, owned by Richard Hogan of Hudson Falls, N.Y., were the only insured horses.

It was the third fire at the track in 20 years. In 1949, 23 horses perished and 21 were killed in 1961.

Three Men, Woman Sought In Post Office Robbery

QUEBEC (AP) — Police continued their search today for three men and a woman who escaped up the St. Lawrence River in a small yacht Thursday after robbing a post office in suburban Levis of $110,000 in cash and bonds.

The masked four exchanged about 20 shots with police while they were being pursued, but escaped with a succession of stolen vehicles and the 16-foot yacht.

The three men smashed the window of the post office before opening time and surprised four employees who were sorting mail.

The bandits, armed with machine-guns and revolvers, held the employees at gunpoint, snatched a mailbag containing the cash and bonds and ran out a rear entrance where four other employees were loading mail into trucks.

Pat Maguire, a railway policemen at the nearby CNR station, fired a revolver shot into the air, warning them to halt. The bandits replied with a machine-gun burst that went wild, jumped into a stolen car driven by the woman and drove to the river bank.

They abandoned the car for the yacht with a powerful 105-horsepower motor and crossed the river toward the Western Quebec suburb of Silley.

But they found police waiting there and reversed direction, landing on the south shore at St. Romauld, several miles upstream from Levis.

They stole another car at St. Romauld and disappeared while police threw up roadblocks in the area.

The car was stolen from the Christian Brothers, a Roman Catholic teaching order, near the river at St. Romauld.

Brother Gilbert Laganier, provincial of the order, said he and Brother Adelart Proteau were sitting down to lunch when the bandits burst into the refectory and demanded the car keys.

Levis Postmaster J. A. Fradette confirmed that the amount taken was more than $100,000, although he could not say immediately how much of the loot was in cash and how much in bonds.

Insp. J. C. VanHoutte of provincial police said two machine-guns, three sawed-off rifles and a quantity of ammunition were found in the abandoned yacht at St. Romauld. Police also found fingerprints on the vessel.

The bandits arrived at the post office in two cars, both of which had been stolen in Montreal earlier. Two other stolen cars were found at the water's edge in Silley where they had originally intended to land.

Bard President Scores Method Of Drug Arrests

RHINEBECK
Dr. Reamer Kline, in a recent New York Times news article, objected to methods of arrest employed by the Dutchess County Sheriff's Department in the May drug raid at Bard College.

Dr. Kline is the president of the college. He deplored the blanket method of "scooping up" everyone in sight, rather than employing more conventional arrest techniques.

According to Kline, the effectiveness of these methods were questionable. In a spring 1968 raid, when more than 30 arrests were made, only four convictions were turned in, and they were on reduced charges. Of the 45 arrests made at Bard a month ago, only three were for the sale, and the rest were for "possession" a difficult thing to prove in a college dormitory.

Green Thumb Tells How to Save Pears

By GEORGE ABRAHAM
NOTES ON PEAR CULTURE:
The major pear disease home gardeners ask about is Fire-blight. This causes the leaves to wilt, turn black and dry up. This trouble is caused by bacteria and is spread by firelightspreading insects. Control consists of pruning out fireblighted branches, making the cut about 4 inches below the edge of each canker. In other words, don't cut into the affected area, but well enough below it to stop it

Try a Garbage Disposer

With the approach of hot weather, the food waste disposal problems of many families increase. For about 10 million American families, the answer is an electric food waste disposer, the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau says. This compact appliance is installed beneath the kitchen sink, connected to the waste line. It consists basically of a powerful little motor and grinding mechanism installed in a "canister."

Off the Floor Plumbing Helps Cleaning Chores

Have you ever visited the washroom in a restaurant or department store and envied the cleaning lady because all the plumbing was "off-the-floor?" You needn't. You can get the same type of water closet for your home bathroom or powder room, the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau points out. It's available in many styles and all the decorative colors, and certainly makes cleaning the bathroom easier. Off-the-floor lavatories are available too, although more and more people prefer vanity points out. It's available in lavatories, which have generous

The Plainfield-- Practical Living

Proper concentration of facilities becomes more and more a test of today's home planning. Space, accessibility and cost are the things that count the most. Suburban type dwellings have become a strong favorite because of flexibility, appearance and the well known fact that one level construction does cost less than jog, multi or two level homes. The focal point of today's feature, "The Plainfield," embodies the area around the front gable, such as living room, porch, foyer and lavatory.

The kitchen has been assigned to the rear of the home and placed for convenience to the formal dining room with the fireplace acting as the separator from the living and dining area. The kitchen has an abundance of cupboards and cabinets, and the services are positioned naturally for convenience. A study of the floor plan shows a small lavatory near the exterior side door and basement staircase. Although the plan shows the breezeway as more or less an open porch, it could be enlarged from 6' to 12' for the addition of a beautifully located family room without a great deal more expense if done in the course of construction.

SPECTATOR IS KING at this plush, new stadium that is being built in San Diego, Calif., as the new home of the San Diego Padres of the National Baseball League and the Chargers of the American Football League. (NEA PHOTO)

Joe Pepitone, Bat and Hair, Slated for Braves' Opener

Joe Pepitone is coming back to town, bringing with him his potent bat, beautiful coiffure and effervescent personality. The New York Yankee first baseman is scheduled to assist the Kingston Braves open their 1969 Hudson Valley American League home season against the Beacon Astros, Thursday June 12, at Dietz Stadium.

Pepitone, as famous for his shock of hair and sideburns as he is for his home run hitting ability, currently leads the Yankees in homers with 14 and is second to Bobby Murcer in RBI's with 32. He is batting .242.

Jackie Farrell of the Yankees' promotional department said Pepitone would be accompanied by Al Cuccinello, former well known semi-pro player in the metropolitan area with the vaunted Bushwicks of Brooklyn.

Will Conduct Clinic

Pepitone and Cuccinello will conduct a baseball clinic at 5 p.m. for area Little Leaguers, Babe Ruth Leagues and other interested junior baseball players.

Following the clinic, Pepitone will participate in the pre-game ceremonies which are scheduled to start at 7:45 p.m. He is expected to take a few batting practice licks and deliver a brief speech.

"I hear that Pepe puts on quite a show up there in Kingston," said Farrell, who is

JOE PEPITONE (Before the Hair)

Naccarta, vice president; Frank Kolts, treasurer; and Art Althiser, statistician and announcer.

Manager Giannuzzi emphasized that the Braves are anxious to hear from all area players interested in trying out for the Braves.

"We are not a closed shop and never have been," he explained. "We're always anxious to hear from any ball players in our jurisdiction who would like to try out for the club."

Under Rookie League rules, teams are restricted to certain areas from which they may draw talent. The Braves' district is roughly all of Ulster County and parts of southern Greene County.

The Braves are obviously in need of pitchers for the extended 24-game schedule this season.

Pro Owners Hurdle Schedule Puzzle

NEW YORK (UPI)—The National and American Football Leagues again failed to get to the problem of realignment at their meeting Thursday, but did establish a scheduling system which will go into effect in 1970.

In order to get the best games possible, the league offices will make up the schedule for the first year of the merger and future schedules will work on a rotating basis.

The schedule will work in this fashion. A team in a four-team division will play six home-and-home games with the other three teams in its division, five intra-conference games and three inter-conference games.

Clubs in a five-team division will play eight home-and-home games, three intra-conference and three inter-conference games.

Under the scheduling system, it will take nine years for all 26 teams to have played each other at least once.

Also agreed upon Thursday was the establishment of a foundation for pro football alumni. This foundation, funded by the present 16 NFL clubs, will provide disability benefits to former pro football players in need.

The members of the board of the foundation are ex-players Jim Castiglia, Frank Szymanski and Alex Wojciechowski and executives Art Rooney, George Halas and Edwin Anderson.

No solution was reached on the player limit for the 1970 season. Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the two leagues, said most of the owners favor a player limit of 40 but have failed to support it by the necessary votes.

The owners also discussed the waiver situation and the formation of a policy for inter-conference trading which will go into effect in 1970.

The owners spent a good part of the day listening to two reports on medical studies of football injuries. No recommendations will be presented until the reports are complete.

Rozelle said that the establishment of the player limit would be the first order of business for Friday's meeting, the last of this session. He said if there were time, realignment would be discussed.

Name Bleyman To All-SUNYAC

Walt Bleyman, first baseman of the New Paltz State baseball team was the only member selected to the 1969 All-SUNYAC team.

Bleyman batted .343 for the Hawks, as he had 11 hits in 32 trips to the plate.

Other members of the team include: Outfielders—Bob Stanko, Buffalo; Judd Magrin, Oneonta; Roger Clary, Oswego; Bob White, Plattsburgh.

Infielders named to the team are: Tom Dryja, Buffalo; John Davide, Buffalo; Gordy Costa, Oswego; Mike Baran, Oneonta; Charles Fix, Oswego; Ed La-Strange, Plattsburgh.

Pitchers are: Pete Tozer, Oswego; Mark Wiemendorf, Oswego; Steve McMullen, Oneonta; Dave Weins, Fredonia.

Catchers selected are: Fred Prezioso, Oswego, and Dennis Kennelly, Plattsburgh.

Propose 16-Team NBA

DETROIT (UPI)—Commissioner J. Walter Kennedy's mail, like the National Basketball Association over which he presides, is going to be expanding.

Kennedy will be getting a lot of mail which, in effect says "pick our city," as a result of the NBA owners' decision Thursday to add two more teams, effective with the 1970-71 season.

"This is in line with our expansion program developed five years ago," Kennedy said in announcing the increase of NBA clubs to 16, a decision which no doubt did not send tears of joy trickling down the faces of rival American Basketball Association officials.

The swift move was unexpected, since Kennedy had told newsmen at the start of the three-day annual meeting that expansion was not a topic of discussion for the league owners and general managers.

The two as-yet-unnamed cities will likely force the NBA into realignment away from two eight-team divisions into some thing like four four-team groups.

The league has grown from nine clubs as recently as the 1966-67 season, when the Chicago Bulls joined. The Seattle SuperSonics and San Diego Rockets were added one year later while the Milwaukee Bucks and Phoenix Suns just completed their freshman seasons.

Two rules changes completed the action on the final day of the owners' sessions. The number of team personal fouls per quarter before a bonus free throw is awarded was trimmed from six to five, in an effort to "cut down intentional or a deliberate fouling in the last two minutes of a quarter," Kennedy said.

The other was permitting each club to "farm out" two of its 12 roster members. They can be recalled twice but must stick with the parent club for at least five games.

Maxwell, Beard Are 5-Under 66 In Western Open

CHICAGO (UPI)—Frank Beard and Billy Maxwell missed a 21-year-old course record by one stroke Thursday to share the first round lead in the $130,000 Western Open with five under par 66s on the 6,654 yard Midlothian Country Club course.

Both Beard and Maxwell teed off in the afternoon section of the 144 player field and both declared the course played well for them. Beard, in fact, cited missing birdie putts of under six feet on two holes and said, "I could have shot a 63 or a 64."

Both Beard and Maxwell had a shot at the competitive course record of 65 set in 1948 in the Chicago Victory Open by South Africa's Bobby Locke. But Maxwell said he "scrambled all over the place and I got as much as I could possibly get."

Beard believed that the pins were "very, very difficult positions but very fair" on the small greens and added that the putts were "very difficult to read."

Beard, the 19th leading money winner with earnings of $45,000 this year, and Maxwell, 52nd in earnings, were only one stroke ahead of Rocky Thompson and Dick Rhymer, who had 67, and two up on Jack Ewing.

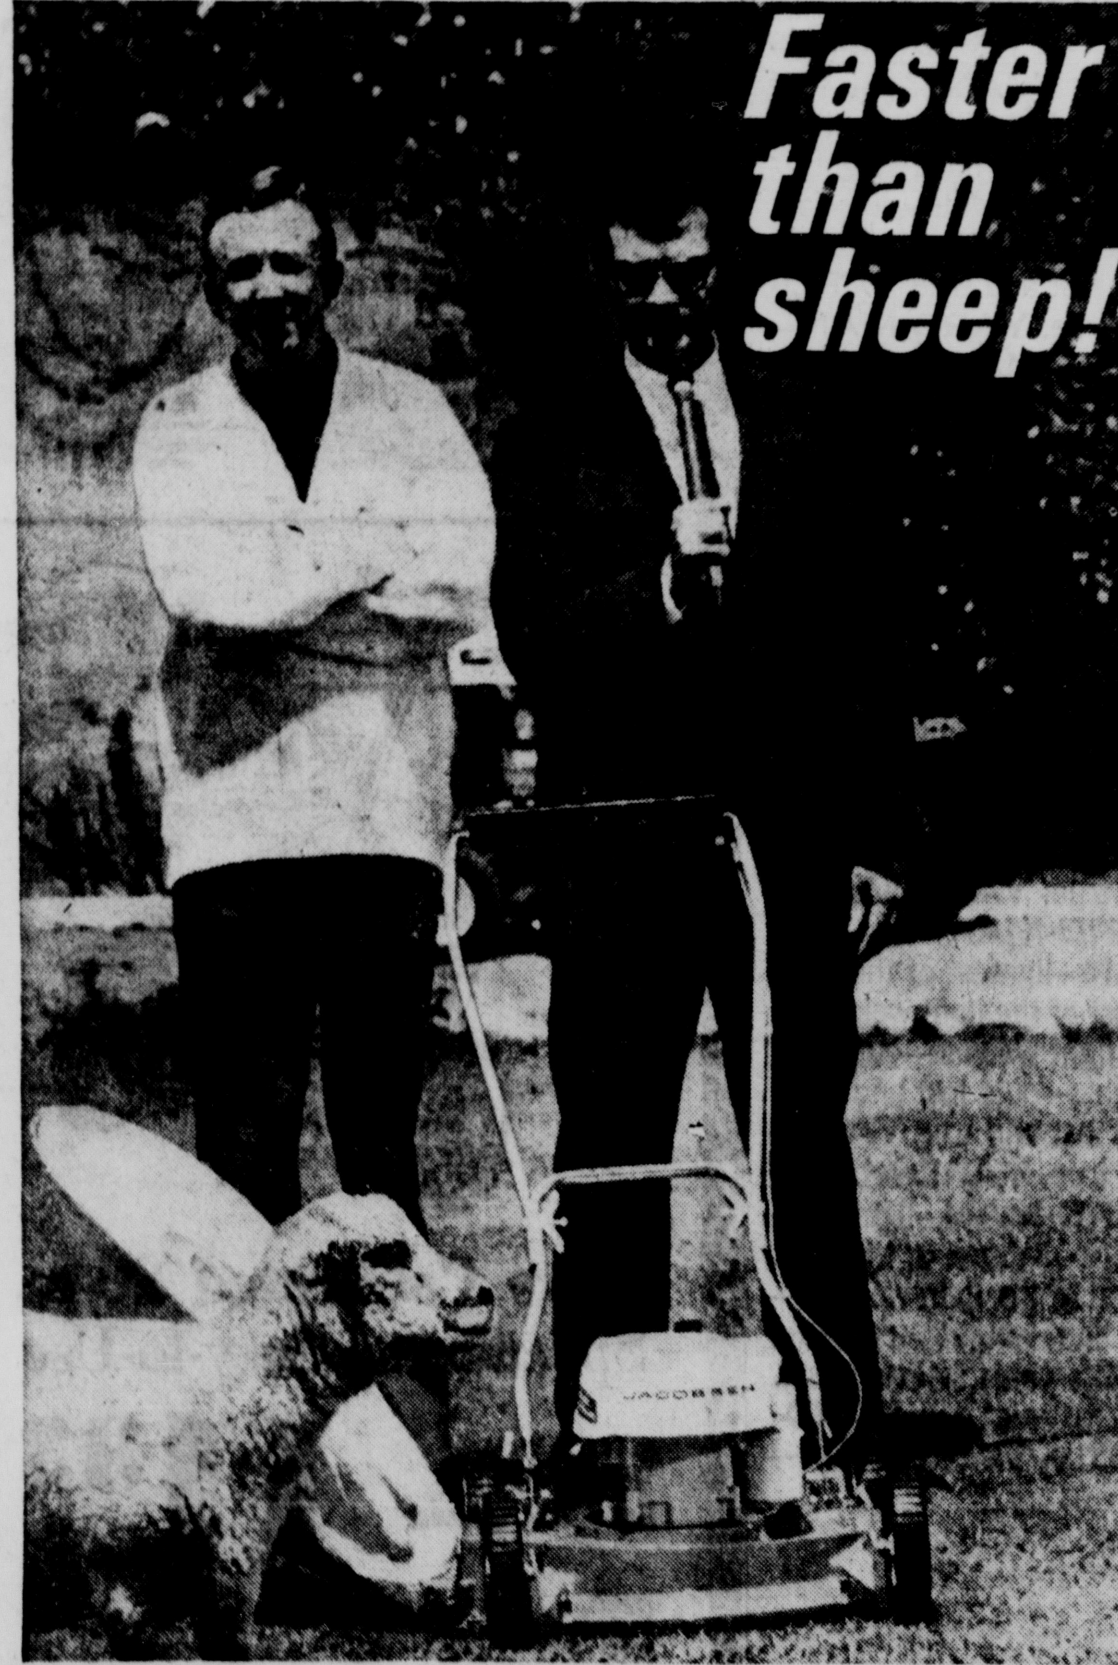

Bob Goalby, Bob Murphy, Gary Player and Mike Hill.

Seven players fired two under par 69s, 13 were one under at 70, and 15 in the field equalled par. Twenty-nine players in all bettered the regulation figures.

TIANO'S TOPICS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Having survived a few political skirmishes during a more exuberant and naive period in my life, I find myself obsessed with the notion that the fate of the UCCC swimming pool might have been different in an "off year", as it were.

The political primer says its bad politics to endorse any legislation or project that would further burden the already overburdened purse strings of the taxpayer during an election year—and this is one.

I am sure that many members of the Ulster County Legislature who voted against the UCCC swimming pool could offer a reasonable argument to support their position.

On the other hand, I would not be surprised if some of our distinguished legislators succumbed to the biennial malaise that at some time or other afflicts all politicians—the election year jitters.

SOME MAY HAVE reacted to instinctive fears that a vote in favor of the pool would be "political suicide". This is understandable but we admire more the small minority who voted their conscience without regard to their political fate on some other day.

The defeat of the UCCC swimming pool proposition is of itself no great tragedy that time and common sense cannot repair. It will return again and again to haunt the legislators until some day it will become a reality.

It will prevail because a swimming pool cannot be passed off as something that is either a frill or a luxury. That kind of thinking belongs to the past.

WE'RE NOT letting the Kingston Consolidated School System off the hook, either. They should have made provisions for a swimming pool somewhere within its growing complex a long time ago.

Incidentally, a college board official in the county reports that only last week she had been to a meeting of all trustees in New York City and the trustees of the Rockland County Community College.

The downstater was flabbergasted that the swimming pool issue was encountering so much resistance in Kingston. A similar proposal passed the Rockland county legislature without any trouble.

Two 9-Inning Games

Ron Joary Fans 18 In Softball League

ELLENVILLE, N.Y. (AP)—Ron Joary allowed scratch singles in the 1st, 2nd, 4th and 7th innings. Joary struck out 18 batters as he pitched Wright-Shanley into a first place tie with Tschopp's with a nine inning game from Silver Grill, 7-2, via a five run outburst in the upper half of the ninth.

May Draft Thomas

KINGSTON, N.Y. (AP)—Ron Thomas, former Kingston High School and Wagner College baseball star, who is eligible for the current baseball draft, was not picked in the first three phases of the first round draft held in New York City yesterday.

It is expected that Thomas will be picked up by a major league club before the drafting ends today.

Jeff Burroughs, a slugging outfielder from Long Beach, California, was the first player selected in the 1969 summer draft. The Washington Senators, by virtue of posting the worst record in the majors last season, secured the rights to the righthanded hitting Burroughs.

The 18-year-old, 6-foot-1, 200 pounder will graduate later this month from Woodrow Wilson High School, where he batted .450 his senior year.

Lasko Blasts 719 For Career First

KINGSTON, N.Y. (AP)—George Lasko blasted a career-first 719 series with games of 247, 246, 226 in the Wednesday Nite Mixed League on lanes 23-24 at Ferraro's Bowlerama.

Runnerup was Bill Glaser with 234, 203-642; Charlie Spader posted 233-605.

Joan Landsberg decked 527 to head the distaff department. Lillian Tyler shot 524, Gloria Nagele 520 and Helen Geneis 513.

Team results: Andy's 3, Beisel's 0; Grace's Drive In 3, Jerry Martin Pontiac 0; Gold Star Rest. 2, Clemens 1; Dutchers 2, Kay's Dress Co. 1; A&R 2, Lamoreaux Atlantic 1.

Sullivan Wins Again!

WOODSTOCK, N.Y. (AP)—"I just played good golf, nothing spectacular," said the eminently successful golf champion, when asked to comment on her brilliant early season performances.

"My wedge was working effectively and I had quite a few one-putt greens," she added. "Under the rules we could replay one hole and I selected a drive on the 7th and it paid off."

Mrs. Harry Sanger led the 9-hole string tournament with a gross 86, but her 19 handicap helped her to a stroke margin over runners up Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. Joseph Forno.

YOU CAN ADD Clarkstown Central as the newest district in Section 9 to open a new pool this fall. At the moment the lineup of pools in Section Nine is: pools now in use (Marlboro, Warwick, Fallsburg); pools to open this fall (Clarkstown, Suffern, Tappan Zee, Pine Bush); pool to be constructed by 1971—North Rockland.

THE IMPENDING trip of UCCC's varsity golf squad to the National Junior College Athletic Association Tournament in Rosewell, New Mexico has aroused great interest in area golf circles.

The UCCC triumph in the Region XV while unexpected was a magnificent achievement.

Coach Mike Perry told this department that much credit for the development of the UCCC belongs to Ian (Scotty) Robertson, the veteran Wiltwyck Country Club pro.

"Scotty gave the boys several group lessons as well as much individual attention," said Perry. It certainly paid off.

COACH PERRY SAID Robertson "has been very helpful to us in the past three years. This year we had the added advantage of a budget for lessons for the golf players and it proved to be a boon for this year's team."

Scotty, of course, does have a vested interest in Dave Blakely, UCCC's No. 1 swinger, who was virtually raised on the Wiltwyck links.

The fact that Wiltwyck Country Club is a hotbed of outstanding junior talent which is conspicuously missing in other area clubs isn't just happenstance. It reflects keen dedication on the part of the resident professional.

Wiltwyck has produced such stalwarts as Buzzy Costello, Bob Costello, Ed Byman, the Pauker brothers, Sam Spiegel, Joe Bostic, Werner Kolln and now Dave Blakely—And there will be others.

Coach Mike Perry modestly admits that there is little he can teach his boys, many of whom can whip him on the links. Scotty Robertson could and did teach the kids many of the finer points of the game. For that he deserves a large measure of UCCC's golf glory of the moment.

Wills Hurrying Back to Expos

URGENT n VANCOUVER, B.C. (UPI)—Maury Wills ended his three-day retirement Thursday and has agreed to rejoin the Montreal Expos, general manager Jim Fanning announced.

Shortly before the Expos took the field to play an exhibition against the Vancouver Mounties of the Pacific Coast League, Fanning told newsmen, "Wills is coming back."

He did not elaborate but added that the one-time base stealing champion would meet the team in Los Angeles Friday when the Expos play the Dodgers.

Wills, 36, quit Tuesday because he said he felt he couldn't do the job any longer.

Wills, who stole a record 104 bases in 1964, was hitting .198 when he made his announcement.

Red Wings Lose

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Mike Ferraro collected a line drive single in his first trip to the plate Thursday night. It was the first hit of the ball game for the Red Wings, as the Columbus Jets defeated Rochester, 10-4.

Ferraro went hitless the last three trips to drop his team leading batting average to .333.

In other action Toledo topped Louisville 3-2, Buffalo trounced Tidewater, 8-2, and in an exhibition game the Atlanta Braves nipped the Richmond Braves, 8-7.

Big Three Vs. Little Three In 101st Belmont Stakes

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Big Three and the Little Three were to be entered in the $100,000 added Belmont Stakes today, and on Saturday the biggest of the Big Three—Majestic Prince—will attempt to cover the mile and a half distance and become the winner of the Triple Crown.

Prime challengers to the unbeaten winner of the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness were Arts and Letters and Dike. Spear carriers were expected to be Rooney's Shield, Distant and Prime Fool.

Majestic Prince, home on top in all his nine starts, breezed to a 45 4-5 half mile in his final tuneup Thursday morning. Arts and Letters whipped through the same distance in 45 1-5.

Both Johnny Longden, who trains the Prince, and Elliott Burch, who conditions Arts and Letters, were full of confidence in their respective charges.

"I am not after second or third money," declared Burch. "I think he can go three miles."

Longden insisted Majestic Prince "will be at his best. I think my horse will go on and I think Arts and Letters will top."

"If I'm riding him," Longden continued, "I would put him on the lead and rate him in front, but Bill Hartack rides him and he is going to do what he thinks best."

George Norton Stars In Yankee Division

SAUGERTIES, N.Y. (AP)—Sparked by the fine all-around play of pitcher George Norton, Spartan Pools won its second game Thursday night in the Yankee Division of the Saugerties Softball League, defeating Southside Men's Club, 9-0. The win left the Kingston entry alone in first place in the fast-pitch division.

Norton not only held his opponents to two hits, he added two for himself, including a double and knocked in four runs.

After Tom Fiore blasted a homer in the fourth stanza, Norton doubled, scoring two markers. He also singled in two more in the sixth. The winning pitcher fanned only one, but kept the Men's Club in line, as they battle with the Prince in both Derby and Preakness, and came off second best each time. Dike has been rested since the Kentucky event, in which he was third.

"I thought he needed a rest," said trainer Lucien Laurin. "He is in No. 1 shape, couldn't be better. The distance is in favor of my horse, I do believe."

How lightly regarded are the Little Three is reflected in the morning line. Majestic Prince is 6-5, Arts and Letters 8-5, Dike 2-1. Rooney's Shield and Distant are listed at 20-1 and Prime Fool 30-1.

Jockey assignments are set, in addition to Hartack, Barulio Baeza will be astride Arts and Letters, Eddie Belmonte on Dike, Larry Adams on Rooney's Shield, Johnny Rotz on Distant and Jorge Velazquez on Prime Fool.

With six starters, the gross value will be $147,800, with the winner collecting $105,050. Second money is $25,000, third $12,500 and fourth $6,250.

Majestic Prince can become the ninth horse in history to sweep the three major American tests for three-year-olds. Last horse to accomplish the feat was Citation in 1948. Most recent to have a chance was Kauai King in 1966, but he ran fourth to Aberoid in the Belmont.

First winner of all three was Sir Barton in 1919. Others were Gallant Fox in 1930, Omaha in 1935, War Admiral in 1937, Whirlaway in 1941, Count Fleet in 1943, and Assault in 1946.

Longden was the jockey in Count Fleet's memorable 1943 Belmont victory, when the Count won by 25 lengths over two rivals. Longden had also been aboard in Count Fleet's Derby and Preakness wins.

Overcall Is Hailed As the Best Pacer

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP)—Overcall was hailed by harness racing fans as the best pacer since the 1960s. The 6-year-old son of Cape Town Overbid by Hal Dale silenced those who said he couldn't go 1 1/4 miles by easily winning the $50,000 International Pace for the United States at Yonkers Raceway Thursday.

"I was a bit worried before the race," admitted driver Del Insko afterwards, "but once I got to the front after 1 1/4 miles, I knew it was all over."

A turnout of 23,068 marveled as Overcall, owned by Mrs. Helen Buck of Far Hills, N.J., zipped the last quarter-mile in 29.3 seconds to wipe out the old record of 3:03 set by Tarquinus at Roosevelt Raceway in 1964. He finished 8 3/4 lengths ahead of Blaze Pick of Canada.

It was the easiest kind of victory for Overcall, who now has won six in a row, including 5-for-5 this season. He put in just one burst, rushing up from fifth place after 1 1/4 miles, and drawing out without need of urging in the stretch.

"I never touched him at any time with the whip," Insko said. "Now I'm certain something was bothering him when he finished sixth at 1 1/4 miles last fall at Roosevelt. I felt certain he would break the record and get that $5,000 bonus."

Insko referred to the bonus the track management put up for a world record. Insko got $2,500 and Mrs. Buck the other half. While it didn't count in Overcall's official earnings, the magnificent pacer picked up $25,000 and increased his career earnings to $483,298.

Overcall now is favored to sweep Yonkers' $150,000 International Pacing Series. The second leg is the $50,000 Good Time Pace at 1 1/4 miles next Thursday.

Overcall went off the 7-5 favorite and paid $4.60, $3.20 and $2.80 in the mutuels. Blaze Pick took the $12,500 second-place money by 1 3/4 lengths over Twinkle Hanover, who got $6,000 for finishing third.

Don Corneau waited until the final paddock turn Thursday at Monticello Raceway to brush his charge, Peter Eden, to a photo finish victory in the featured fourth race trot which carried a purse of $20,000 and honored the New York Department of the Jewish War Veterans of the U.S.A. and their ladies auxiliary.

Corneau kept Peter Eden, a seven-year-old gelded son of Speedster, Astra Eden by Wordy Boy, far back, even beyond the three-quarter pole. From the outset, Gerard Mir and Penney his Nibs vied for the lead, with Penney his Nibs assuming it while the field was rounding the clubhouse turn for the first time.

Real Cormier, who was driving Penney his Nibs, set a blazing quarter, trotting it in :29.4. Penney his Nibs was contested through the half, recorded in 1:35.2. Gerard Mir then took over the lead again, but it was at that point that Don Corneau and Peter Eden were beginning their move.

Peter Eden's charge through the final eight the mile was irresistible, and he crossed the wire in 2:08 flat, followed a head behind by Ida Rodney, George Gilmour driving. Once-leader Gerard Mir, John Gilmour the Driver, came in third.

Corneau, the winning driver was presented a trophy by New York State J.W.V. Commander Stanley Zwalk, and the key to the village by Monticello Mayor Joseph N. Garlick.

In Thursday night's first double at the Monticello, the first two paces were captured by the combination of 1 and 1, a linkage that resulted in a pay-off of $20.40.

UCAL Track To OCS Gals

BOICEVILLE, Onteora High School girls track team won six of 12 events to capture the UCAL championship. Three records were broken and one tied.

Mary Rickard of Onteora won the high jump with a leap of four feet, seven inches and set a new UCAL record in the 50 yard hurdles at eight seconds flat.

Donna Garcia of New Paltz, the meet's only other double winner, won the long jump when she set the new record of 14 feet, 9 inches. She also won the 100 yard dash.

The Indians won the team 440 relay in record time of 58 seconds. The members on the relay team were Sue France, Annalee Rose, Kathy Tucker and Bea Wilkinson.

Mildred Archmoody broke the shot put record with a toss of 31 feet, 2 inches, for New Paltz. Janet Mitaro equalled her own record of 6.4 seconds in the 50 yard dash, for New Paltz.

Sue Carr was the winner in a new event this year, the discus. She tossed it 75 feet, 5 inches, for the Indians.

Medals were presented to the first place finishers in each event and a team trophy will be presented.

WIFE, CAR FOR SALE—Marie Shaw perches prettily on the hood of her husband Ken's automobile after she found herself and the car in the "For Sale" column of a Canterbury, England newspaper. Marie had complained that the car was cold and drafty so her husband's ad read: "Car or wife must go. Car—1963 MGB, all extras, 500 pounds ($1,200). Wife—1944, 5 ft. 36-24-36, 25,000 pounds ($60,000) or nearest offer. Shaw says that "for the sake of peace in the home, one of them has to go." (UPI CABLEPHOTO)

Public Opinion Poll Favors Pompidou to Win in France

PARIS (UPI)—The official campaign in the runoff for the French presidency began today with a public opinion poll showing favorite Georges Pompidou preferred 58 per cent to 42 for Alain Poher.

Pompidou was taking no chances, fighting like the underdog. Acting President Poher held in Paris by a meeting of the cabinet, did not plan to launch his campaign until Monday.

The campaign for the June 15 second round of voting officially began at midnight. Pompidou took to the countryside, telling his supporters, "We must not consider our success a foregone conclusion."

The conservative newspaper Le Figaro said the poll indicated about one-third of the 4,808,000 Frenchmen who voted June 1 for Communist Jacques

Duclos will defy a Communist order to boycott the runoff and will vote for Poher. The signal for the start of the runoff campaign came at a brief midnight meeting of the 12-man constitutional council at the vast, rambling 18th century Palais Royal, facing the Louvre Museum in downtown Paris.

As midnight struck, Council Chairman Gaston Palewski rose and announced that as neither has withdrawn from the runoff, the race was now between Poher and Pompidou, front-runners in the first round. The official campaign ends June 13.

To Study Cuts In Dutches of Youth Program

RED HOOK

There has been much ado about nothing in the Hometown Beautification Program, according to Dutchess County Representative Madison Sipperley, R-Red Hook.

The program, by which towns and villages could employ youth during summer months at $1.25 per hour and have the wages reimbursed by the state, was seized upon eagerly by the Villages of Red Hook and Tivoli, while Rhinebeck spurned the offer.

As it turns out, the five per cent slice in the state budget has necessitated cutting out much of the program anyway. Red Hook and Tivoli, both of which had applied, were wiped out by the budget axe. Yet central and southern portions of Dutchess County were left comparatively unscathed. Why this? A budget department spokesman said that Red Hook has been cut because it wanted to employ only three youths, and the minimum was five with a maximum of ten. Tivoli was ready to hire ten boys, but was also eliminated.

The Dutchess County Youth Board is handling the project locally, and the New York State Division of Youth is the funding agent.

Sipperley is still intent on finding out why District Five of Dutchess County has been ignored.

Local Kiwanis Luncheon Fetes Honor Students

Winners of scholarships from the local school system were guests at the luncheon of the club Thursday. Andrew Gilday of the Scholarship Committee introduced each student.

Miss Debra Marchetti of Hurley was the winner of the $50 Ruby Apel award, while the Morris Samer award of $300 went to Dickson Warren of Rifton.

Awards of $200 each were received by Mary Anne O'Neill, Echo-Leigh Bertolini, and Lynn Tucker of Kingston, and Pat Hill of Ulster Park.

The $500 award winners listed Michael J. Brown, Harry Nussbaum, Lee J. Williams, Vincent D. Gorman, and John F. Brinnier, all of Kingston.

Chairman Gilday announced that the scholarship committee of the Kiwanis Club had reviewed 89 applications for scholarships, "and we had a difficult time in reaching the decisions."

Cited by Police

Avan Holland, 35, of 11 Gill Street, Kingston, was cited early today by Highland State Police for driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated. He was stopped on Route 9W in Esopus and taken before Lloyd Town Justice Lewis DiStasi, who committed the motorist to jail in lieu of $100 bail. Hearing was adjourned until June 8. Trooper R. D. Burdine made the arrest.

Dear Abby

All Ancient History

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
(© 1969 by Chicago Tribune-
S. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: A great deal has happened to our country lately, and the youth is blamed. We've been called everything from "flower children" to hippies. Everywhere you hear about "protesters" and draft dodgers, and adults are suspicious of any teen-ager with long hair.

I recently came across this quote from a worried adult: "What is this world coming to? What will the world be like when the younger generation takes over? Will it be destroyed by individualism and lack of leadership?" (Signed Socrates, 469 B. C.)

Sincerely yours,
LINDA IN CEDAR RAPIDS

DEAR LINDA: And look what happened to Socrates' "world"—which was Greece! And they didn't regain stature again until Melina Mercouri made "Never on Sunday" and Jackie married Onassis.

DEAR ABBY: As the mother of a 22-year-old daughter, I would like to have some up-to-date information on present day dating customs.

My daughter has been dating a young man for several months. He's a college graduate and has a very good job. He invited her to go skiing, and then informed her that she would have to pay for her own lift fee. She thought this was rather odd, but she paid her own fee.

Then on subsequent dates he told her she should pay her own way.

She told him she thought he was being "cheap." He said she was being "ignorant." And they quarreled.

Is the young man correct? Is it the custom now for girls to pay their own way when asked for a date?

PERPLEXED
DEAR PERPLEXED: The gentleman treats the lady, unless they have an "understanding" beforehand, and are saving for their mutual benefit. A man who would ask a girl for a date and then suggest she pay her own way is no gentleman. And a girl, to put up with it must be very hungry for company.

DEAR ABBY: You are a doll. You made me see the light, even tho it took 6 years to register.

I am 40 years old and divorced. I am tall and slim and have been told that I am "attractive." I have many talents and a good job, but for some unknown reason I became involved with a married man. He was "misunderstood, unloved," etc. and said that they were together only because of the children, but if it took him until he was 65 we would be together. You know the routine. I believed him.

Naturally we couldn't be seen together, so I entertained him in my home. He was jealous and possessive, and never knew until the last minute if we could be together, so I wasn't able to go anywhere.

Finally I saw something in your column that hit me right between the eyes. (He'll never marry you. Why should he? He's getting the whole show for the price of the amusement tax.)

I looked at myself in the mirror, and said, "This is it—no more wasting years." I called him and told him bluntly not to bother me anymore. He got the message. Now I can rest at night. Thank you!

Horoscope By SIDNEY OMARR It's In The Stars

("The wise man controls his destiny . . . astrology points the way.")

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, JUNE 7, 1969

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Cycle high. Now you can take initiative. You get the breaks. One who opposed you becomes ally. Take the lead—be forceful without being domineering.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Social activity increases. So do opportunities. You have more choices. Laughter once again becomes a part of your life. One who had disapproved of actions now gives blessings.

CANCER (June 21-July 2): Accent on career, ambitions. You can find ways of obtaining profit from efforts. Important not to alienate family members, other loved ones. Smile—even if it hurts.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Good lunar aspect highlights vacation travel. Your imagination is active. You are creative and can write, map campaigns. Key is to look beyond minor obstacles.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): All is not easy to comprehend, especially actions of mate, partner with regard to money. Be fair but firm. Live up to responsibility.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Accent on marriage, partnership, dealings with the public. Your influence spreads. But don't be tempted into premature action. Finish current assignment.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Study LIBRA message. Round out efforts. Be sure of what you want and where you are going. Ask questions. Many are more than willing to serve, aid. Avoid extremes in eating, drinking. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You could use a "mood barometer" today. But those ups-downs can be solved by proper rest and good food. Emotions are involved and so is the opposite sex. Activity with children favored.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You may find yourself utilizing delay tactics. Don't feel guilty. Necessary to straighten out condition at home. Then and only then should you proceed with long-range plan.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19): Stress on short trips, dealing with relatives. You find some restrictions are lifted. Be responsible in handling new-found freedom. Don't try too much at once.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Money is accented. Decide what to spend, save. Be aware of assets, deficits. Some changes may be necessary. Buy gift for one who means much to you. Evening is a romantic one.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are introspective. Many think they know you but few do. By October, many of your desires will be fulfilled.

Today's hand was sent us by a reader in Madison, Wis. He didn't say how the hand was bid except to state that North was dealer and they only reached six spades. We can visualize any number of bidding sequences and that in the box is our guess as to how it went when the hand was played.

North's Blackwood four no-trump is typical good player bidding. Good players like to use Blackwood any time they have a good hand. North has a good hand and expects to go to six or seven in view of his partner's jump response to the one-club opening.

When South shows just one ace, North realizes that he is flying blind in a fog. Some North players might look at those two little hearts and settle for five, others would go to six on the theory that South would have to have the king of hearts or that a heart might not be led.

An expert would not use Blackwood with the North hand he would simply raise the two-spade bid to three to see what South would do next. Of course, he wouldn't worry about the bidding dying below game.

South would merely continue to four spades. He had already served notice that he held a big hand but if North held the wrong cards for him four might well be the limit.

Now North would show that he was interested in a slam by bidding five diamonds, whereupon South would be able to bid five hearts to show first-round control of that suit. The five heart bid would be enough for North. He would jump right to seven spades.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

TWO LOVES: (Q.) I have two girl friends. They are twins. I love them both and they love me.

I took my best friend over to their house. Now he goes with me every time I go. He's fond of one of them. She likes him, too, but she says she still loves me.

I want to go with one of them, but if I do I'll break the other's heart, and mine! If I lost one of them I would never forgive myself.

They call me the greatest, but if I really was I wouldn't be writing you. What do I do?—A Puzzled Reader in Wisconsin.

(A.) Let your friend date one and you date the other. Next time switch.

Keep switching around until the two girls and you two boys decide who's whose.

Even though they are twins, they are two distinct personalities and you will be more strongly attracted to one than the other, if you give yourself a chance.

There is the chance, of course, that you and your best friend will end up liking the same girl. But there's always that chance, twins or no twins.

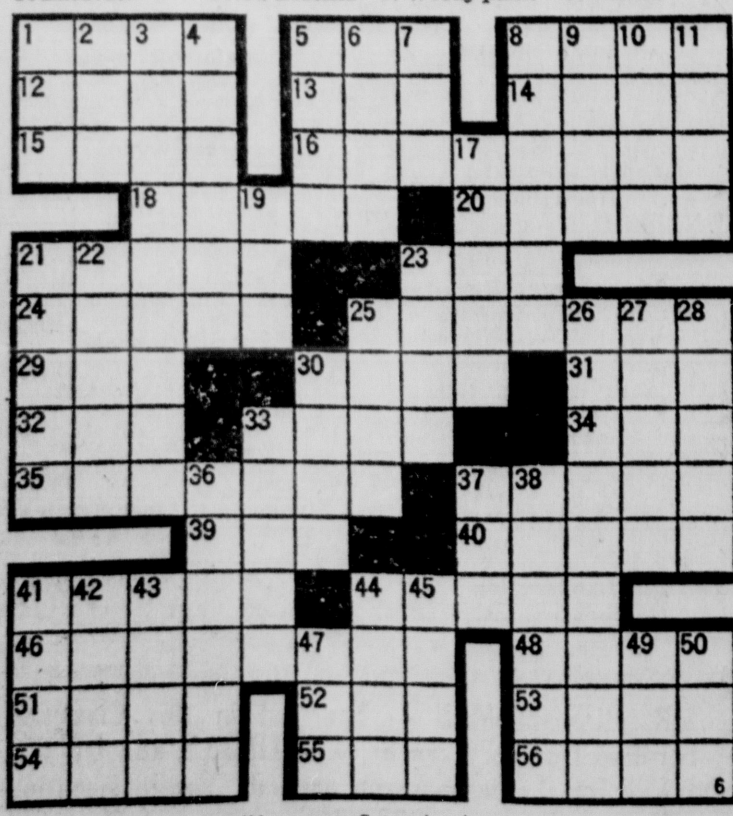

MAIL LADY: (Q.) (Comment) In Teen Forum I read about the girls who wanted addresses of servicemen to write to. In California there is a woman known as the G.I. Mail Lady. Anyone who wants the address of a G.I. to write to can send her a self-addressed and stamped envelope and she will mail some names.

Her address is: The G.I. Mail Lady, Mrs. M. Averitt, P.O. Box 674, Newman, California 95360. I got it from my son—Mrs. B. in Detroit.

(A.) Thank you very much, Mrs. B., for your assistance. (Want personal answers to your questions? Write to Jean Adams, Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

TV Naturals for Cinema

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Some defined in the public mind, and television stars seem naturals for the movies. Some don't, as to whether their new movie, "The Maltese Bippy," goes over well.

There is no question that Susan Saint James, who appears regularly in "The Name of the Game," is a rare find, a superlative comedienne, with big film potential. That was obvious from the time she first appeared.

A Natural
Dan Blocker, of "Bonanza," is such a natural for the movies that it is amazing no one has been able to lure him out of video with a series of film offers. He also has the look of endurance—the quality that warms the cockles of a movie executive's heart.

Others just haven't made it in movies, among them Carol Burnett and Robert Morse. And there are video stars who just don't seem the kind that audiences would make into movie headliners.

One of these days, however, someone is going to discover the luscious Beth Brickell of "Gentle Ben" for movies. She's scene-stealer, Dennis Weaver, survived a series with a bear, and all you have to do is look child actor and that noted her to know why.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

England and the United States are "two nations divided by a common language." For example, Americans don't wear braces to hold up their pants, but rather suspenders, an item the British rely on to hold up their socks. The World Almanac notes. Imagine British astonishment reading an American news report of W. J. Bryan at the Scopes monkey trial, speaking "with his thumbs in his suspenders."
